Schools Making a Difference Martin Thrupp, 1999-05-16 Does an effective school really come about through the actions of teachers and school leaders or does it also require an advantaged student intake This question reflects a longstanding research debate about whether or not the social class mix of a school s student intake has much effect on individual achievement Schools Making a Difference Let s Be Realistic presents new evidence which suggests that school mix is likely to be important because of the way many school processes are deeply influenced by student intake characteristics Low socioeconomic schools face numerous intake related constraints which make them highly resistant to improvement efforts By suggesting that failing schools are often overwhelmed rather than ineffective this book provides a sympathetic reappraisal of the performance of teachers and school leaders in such schools It also offers a critical response to the often unrealistic claims of the school effectiveness and school improvement movement and a fresh critique of market reforms in education The Universal tutor London gen. corresp. coll, 1894 Web-based Education Anil Aggarwal, 2003-01-01 Successful use of information and communication technologies depends on usable designs that do not require expensive training accommodate the needs of diverse users and are low cost There is a growing demand and increasing pressure for adopting innovative approaches to the design and delivery of education hence the use of online learning also called E learning as a mode of study This is partly due to the increasing number of learners and the limited resources available to meet a wide range of various needs backgrounds expectations skills levels ages abilities and disabilities The advances of new technology and communications WWW Human Computer Interaction and Multimedia have made it possible to reach out to a bigger audience around the globe By focusing on the issues that have impact on the usability of online learning programs and their implementation Usability Evaluation of Online Learning Programs specifically fills in a gap in this area which is particularly invaluable to practitioners Educamus ,1992 Citizenship Education in a Divided Society Elizabeth Anderson Worden, 2022-12-30 This book examines the possibilities and realities of promoting citizenship peace and reconciliation through schooling in divided and post conflict societies With specific attention to the case of Northern Ireland and the Local and Global Citizenship LGC initiative the book investigates the faltering progress to develop and teach school curricula aimed at promoting citizenship as well as peace tolerance and mutual understanding Following an overview of the scholarship on citizenship education the author provides a broad social and political historical context within which to understand the educational reforms and changes that have taken place in Northern Ireland highlighting various education initiatives of the 1970s 1980s and 1990s that sought to foster understanding of the other and promote reconciliation The book's focus then shifts to the implementation of LGC which began in 2007 Despite initially strong political support and a considerable investment in terms of financial and human resources LGC has had limited impact The book analyzes the obstacles impeding its success which include marginalization within the curriculum and competing conceptions of the purpose of education A concluding chapter reflects upon what we can learn from LGC's implementation and highlights innovative recent initiatives to bring the young people of Northern Ireland together This book will appeal to scholars and students of education studies with interests in citizenship education peace studies educational policy and curricula and practice
