African Studies: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information

Resources,2020-04-03 Global interest in African studies has been rapidly growing as researchers realize the importance of understanding the impact African communities can have on the economy development education and more As the use acceptance and popularity of African knowledge increases it is crucial to explore how this community based knowledge provides deeper insights understanding and influence on such things as decision making and problem solving African Studies Breakthroughs in Research and Practice examines the politics culture language history socio economic development methodologies and contemporary experiences of African peoples from around the world Highlighting a range of topics such as indigenous knowledge developing countries and public administration this publication is an ideal reference source for sociologists policymakers anthropologists government officials economists instructors researchers academicians and graduate level students in a variety of fields Implausible Dream James H. Mittelman,2020-08-04 Why the paradigm of the world class university is an implausible dream for most institutions of higher education Universities have become major actors on the global stage Yet as they strive to be world class institutions of higher education are shifting away from their core missions of cultivating democratic citizenship fostering critical thinking and safeguarding academic freedom In the contest to raise their national and global profiles universities are embracing a new form of utilitarianism one that favors market power over academic values In this book James Mittelman explains why the world class university is an implausible dream for most institutions and proposes viable alternatives that can help universities thrive in today s competitive global environment Mittelman traces how the scale reach and impact of higher education institutions expanded exponentially in the post World War II era and how the market led educational model became widespread Drawing on his own groundbreaking fieldwork he offers three case studies the United States which exemplifies market oriented educational globalization Finland representative of the strong public sphere and Uganda a postcolonial country with a historically public but now increasingly private university system Mittelman shows that the world class paradigm is untenable for all but a small group of wealthy research intensive universities primarily in the global North Nevertheless institutions without substantial material resources and in far different contexts continue to aspire to world class stature An urgent wake up call Implausible Dream argues that universities are repurposing at the peril of their high principles and recommends structural reforms that are more practical than the unrealistic worldwide measures of excellence prevalent today

The Amicus Curiae in International Criminal Justice Sarah Williams, Hannah Woolaver, Emma Palmer, 2020-02-06 The amicus curiae or friend of the court is the main mechanism for actors other than the parties including civil society actors and states to participate directly in proceedings in international criminal tribunals Yet reliance on this mechanism raises a number of significant questions concerning the functions performed by amici which actors seek to intervene and why and the influence of amicus interventions on judicial outcomes Ultimately the amicus curiae may have a significant impact on the fairness representativeness and legitimacy of the tribunals proceedings and decisions This book provides a comprehensive examination of the amicus curiae practice of the International Criminal Court and other major international criminal tribunals and offers suggestions for the role of the amicus curiae In doing so the authors develop a framework to augment the potential contributions of amicus participation in respect of the legitimacy of international criminal tribunals and their decisions while minimising interference with the core judicial competence of the tribunal and the right of the accused to a fair and expeditious trial

Negotiating a Settlement in Northern Ireland, 1969-2019 John Coakley, Jennifer Todd, 2020-01-09 The Good Friday Agreement of 1998 ended a protracted violent conflict in Northern Ireland and became an international reference point for peace building Negotiating a Settlement in Northern Ireland 1969 2019 traces the roots and out workings of the Agreement focussing on the British and Irish governments their changing policy paradigms and their extended negotiations from the Sunningdale conference of 1973 to the St Andrews Agreement of 2006 It identifies three dimensions of change that paved the way for agreement in the evolution of elite understanding of sovereignty in the development of wide ranging and complex modes of power sharing and in the interrelated emergence of substantial equality in the socio economic cultural and political domains The book combines wide ranging analysis with unparalleled use of witness seminars and interviews where the most senior British and Irish politicians civil servants and advisors discuss the process of coming to agreement In tracing the processes by which British and Irish perspectives converged to address the Northern Ireland conflict the book provides a benchmark against which the ongoing impact of Brexit on the Good Friday Agreement can be assessed Practices, Perceptions and Prospects for Climate Change Education in Africa Marcellus Forh Mbah, Petra Molthan-Hill, Ernest L. Molua, 2025-04-08 This open access book presents peer reviewed chapters that introduce the subject of climate change within formal and informal sectors of education in Africa as key to building the capacity of current and future generations to address the most pressing global issue An insight into existing practices perceptions and prospects for climate change education in Africa can bring to light relevant frameworks that can support a climate resilient future in the continent Among others the book contends that there is a need to rethink current practices of climate change education in the continent by optimizing Indigenous knowledge systems and context relevant pedagogies as important strategies Governments civil society and other stakeholders in Africa can draw on the rich insights captured in this book as they consider feasible approaches to resolve the current climate crisis

Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico, Bunting, Ian, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Why Regional Tier Form of Decentralization Governance's Implementation Is a Preliquist for Uganda's Better Service Delivery of 21st Century Deo Rwangoga, The book looks at Decentralization governance of president Museveni era that was registered in Uganda of the local government status 1987 resistance councils status 1993 as well as into the 1995 constitution operationalized by the local government act 1997 that devolved legislative fiscal planning budgeting functions to districts Municipal councils as well as their lower tier levels whose idea was to involve the people in a way they were governed the dream that have not been achieved looking at what the cries of people are as expressed in all sectors This book analyses Decentralization from 1997 to 2019 and deduces that the first phrase of it 10 years that is up to 2005 was a success that time the district were 69 in number but beyond that time it was not at all and up to now as it is continuously becoming harder to manage those very many administrative units that jumped from just 39 districts in 1991 to 134 Districts in 2020 as well as municipalities created alongside districts that now stand at 41 2018 all contributing to formation of a Member of Parliament that total to 459 MPs 2018 All this has led Uganda to have a very poor governance system as even primary sectors of health education agriculture and economy are in a dilemma state leave alone local revenue collections that are directed from source to Centre before expenditure and the districts have to request back to do any activity including emergencies like garbage management repairs and salaries making services delivery impossible to be efficient and effective in all ways at these levels The book is based on secondary data that reported on governance issues of the day as written in Ugandan media that were people s feelings as issues of the time as well some Journals observations and interviews The book introduces decentralization governance of Uganda identifies current state of affairs of service delivery presents why there was need for many new administrative units and their state now looks at history of parliament feudalism identifies lost pride of Ugandans proposes what regional tier governance can address as well as linking the past with today s Ugandan governance Finally the book proposes prerequisite regional tier power centres relevant to today s Uganda and concludes with models that can help us achieve vision 2040 and therefore proposes immediate need to implement regional tier governance that will establish all three arms of government at regional centres of Uganda remember it was agreed to be implemented by those that deemed it under article 178 3 It is apparent that all regions should therefore implement it as a solution to service delivery that is very poor now

Gendered Violence and Human Rights in Black World Literature and Film Naomi Nkealah,Obioma Nnaemeka,2021-03-30 This book investigates how the intersection between gendered violence and human rights is depicted and engaged with in Africana literature and films The rich and multifarious range of film and literature emanating from Africa and the diaspora provides a fascinating lens through which we can understand the complex consequences of gendered violence on the lives of women children and minorities Contributors to this volume examine the many ways in which gendered violence mirrors expresses projects and articulates the larger phenomenon of human rights violations in Africa and the African diaspora and how in turn the discourse of human rights informs the ways in which we articulate interrogate conceptualise and interpret gendered violence in literature and film The book also shines a light on the linguistic contradictions and ambiguities in the articulation of gendered violence in private spaces and war This book will be essential reading for scholars critics feminists teachers and students seeking solid grounding in exploring gendered violence and human rights in theory and practice

Knowledge and Behavioral Beliefs Related to Vaccination Hesitancy Among Healthcare Workers Aida Bianco,Divya S. Subramaniam,Dipti P. Subramaniam,Ruaa Al Juboori,2025-01-13 The world continues to face multiple ongoing health challenges including outbreaks of vaccine preventable diseases It is well documented that vaccines are one of the safest most effective and cost effective tools available in the prevention and control of infectious diseases At present vaccines prevent 2 3 million deaths a year with a further 1 5 million that could be prevented if for instance factors such as global coverage of vaccinations improved However despite the evident convenience and availability of vaccine services in some locations across the globe vaccine uptake because of vaccine hesitancy remains an ongoing issue In line with this it is therefore crucial to address vaccine hesitancy specifically amongst healthcare workers who are one of the most significant driving forces in protecting and influencing public health Healthcare workers are one of the most trusted sources in providing credible and accurate information on vaccines to the public and as such can heavily influence vaccination decisions In addition healthcare workers are in close contact with vulnerable patients including those who are immunocompromised or have underlying medical and health conditions Therefore ensuring a high vaccination uptake among healthcare workers is crucial in controlling the spread of infectious diseases and promoting vaccine safety amongst vulnerable populations to save lives and help to reduce the burden on public healthcare systems

Higher Education and Capacity Building in Africa Hanne Kirstine Adriansen, Lene Møller Madsen, Stig Jensen, 2015-11-06
Higher education has recently been recognized as a key driver for societal growth in the Global South and capacity building of African universities is now widely included in donor policies The question is how do capacity building projects affect African universities researchers and students Universities and their scientific knowledges are often seen to have universal qualities therefore capacity building may appear straight forward Higher Education and Capacity Building in Africa contests such universalistic notions Inspired by ideas about the geography of scientific knowledge it explores what role specific places and relationships have in knowledge production and analyses how cultural experiences are included and excluded in teaching and research Thus the different chapters show how what constitutes legitimate scientific knowledge is negotiated and contested In doing so the chapters draw on discussions about the hegemony of Western thought in education and knowledge production The authors own experiences with higher education capacity building and knowledge production are discussed and used to contribute to the reflexive turn and rise of auto ethnography This book is a valuable resource for researchers and postgraduate students in education development studies African studies and human geography as well as anthropology and history
