Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice in Africa J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2022-10-17 Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice edited by J Jarpa Dawuni propounds layered intersectionality as a paradigm for examining how gendered factors affect women's access to justice whether as judges or litigants Through intersectional and decolonial frameworks the contributors analyze the lived experiences of women and their access to justice by situating the courtroom as both a spatial and a temporal arena for seeking justice as litigants and for seeking access to the bench as judges This book examines patterns of mutually reinforcing discriminatory practices that women share based on common gender identities and depending on which identities are at play at a given point in time in both traditional and statutory courts The book provides recommendations for various justice sector providers

In the Shadow of Good Governance Gerhard Anders, 2009-10-26 In the Shadow of Good Governance traces the implementation of the good governance agenda in Malawi from the loan documents signed by the representatives of the government and the Bretton Woods institutions to the individual experiences of civil servants who responded in unforeseen ways to the reform measures. Ethnographic evidence gathered in government offices, neighbourhoods and the private homes of civil servants living in Malawi's urban and peri-urban areas undermines the common perception of a disconnect between state institutions and society in Africa. Instead, the book presents a comprehensive analysis of civil servants' attempts to negotiate the effects of civil service reform and economic crisis at the turn of the 21st century. Power and Influence Chiku Malunga, 2012-06-16. Power and Influence demonstrates how the indigenous wisdom contained in African proverbs and folktales can be used to enhance modern life. The timeless wisdom contained in African proverbs and folktales enriches self-development and positive influence. The inspiring results provide deeper understanding of self-development and self-leadership, forming a solid foundation for leadership effectiveness at all levels. This book is among the first to consciously acknowledge and demonstrate the rationale of applying indigenous wisdom to enhance the understanding of disciplines, theories and practice. African proverbs and folktales express an accumulated wisdom of human relations, add dimensions to practice in ways that are soulful, respectful, practical and socially embedded. By using African indigenous wisdom, the book contributes towards the much-needed cross-cultural dialogue among individuals, organizations and societies in this increasingly diversified world.

Building Resilient Healthcare Systems With ICTs Ndayizigamiye, Patrick, Kante, Macire, 2022-03-11. One of the challenges encountered in the provision of healthcare is the inability of healthcare systems to adapt to or respond adequately to adverse events, pandemics or otherwise, especially in settings with limited resources. ICTs can be built into healthcare systems to detect and/or mitigate adverse events. The COVID-19 pandemic has showcased the opportunities that are brought forth by ICTs, such as the adoption of online consultations by doctors and other innovative ways of providing healthcare despite public health regulations, travel restrictions and fears tied to physical appointments. Beyond the COVID-19 era, there is a need to reimagine how ICTs could be adopted in healthcare to ensure resilience in the advent of any of these future adverse events. Building Resilient Healthcare Systems With ICTs highlights the various ways ICTs could assist in building resilience within healthcare systems and the various contexts in which resilience could be built within healthcare systems. It portrays practical implications of and value derived from building resilience in healthcare systems. Covering topics such as electronic health information systems, multimodal representation and supply chain management, this book is an essential resource for healthcare executives, government officials, researchers, computer engineers and academicians. Women, Presbyterianism and Patriarchy Isabel Apawo Phiri, 2007. This is the first book by a Malawian woman theologian. First released in 1997, it won an honorable mention in the Noma Award for Publishing in Africa in 1998 and is now updated here with a new introduction by the author. The study traces the struggles and contribution of Chewa women to the Church of Central Africa Presbyterian. Amongst the topics are female mediums in traditional religion, post-missionary developments in Chigwirizano, women's attempts to achieve some public manifestation of their personal relationship to God in open ministry and the current women's organisation in Nkhoma Synod Dr Isabel Apawo Phiri is in the Department of Theology and Religious Studies at the University of Malawi

Transition Programs for Children and Youth with Diverse Needs Kate Scorgie, Chris Forlin, 2022-01-17 Providing a focus on meaningful involvement and participation in communities and activities of choice that secure benefits for all the chapter authors examine both innovative evidence based practices that facilitate transition and potential barriers supplemented by informative case studies

Contradictions in Post-war Education Policy Formulation and Application in Colonial Malawi 1945-1961 I. C. Lamba, 2010 The post World War II colonial reconstruction programmes for economic recovery and general political and social development in Malawi then known as Nyasaland necessitated increased education But the sincerity of metropolitan development plans for the colonies could only be adequately appraised through the degree of demonstrated commitment in the implementation of the announced plans This study seeks to examine chronologically the development and application of colonial education policies during the period 1945 to 1961 in Malawi The parties involved included the British Colonial Office the Nyasaland Protectorate Government and the Christian missionaries on the one hand and the European settlers Asian Coloured and African communities on the other as the target groups of the policies Devising educational policies of equitable benefit to all the racial and social groupings in Malawi posed enormous problems to the colonial administration This study examining the dynamics and course of policy contends that given the prevailing economic and political conditions non European education especially that of Africans experienced retardation in favour of European education Sometimes apparent government ineptitude combined with calculated needs for the Europeans produced under development for African education in Malawi and the country's economy In the end African education operated against the odds of missionary and government apathy This book discusses the impact on education generally of the Nyasaland Post War Development Programme the Colonial Office Commissions of 1947 1951 and 1961 and the local Committees set up to inquire into the retardation of African education in its various categories including female and Muslim in response to both local and international pressure Although considered a priority African education developed slowly contrary to the declared goal of Post War colonial policy of self determination with its potential demands for trained local manpower The argument demonstrates the tenacity of the Federal Government of Rhodesia and Nyasaland in playing down African education as a political strategy from 1953 to 1961 at the same time as it accorded a better deal to Asian and Coloured education

A Heart for the Work Claire L. Wendland, 2010-09-15 Burnout is common among doctors in the West so one might assume that a medical career in Malawi one of the poorest countries in the world would place far greater strain on the idealism that drives many doctors But as A Heart for the Work makes clear Malawian medical students learn to confront poverty creatively experiencing fatigue and frustration but also joy and commitment on their way to becoming physicians The first ethnography of medical training in the global South Claire L Wendland's book is a moving and perceptive look at medicine in a world where the transnational movement of people and ideas creates both devastation and possibility

Wendland a physician anthropologist conducted extensive interviews and worked in wards clinics and operating theaters alongside the student doctors whose stories she relates From the relative calm of Malawi s College of Medicine to the turbulence of training at hospitals with gravely ill patients and dramatically inadequate supplies staff and technology Wendland s work reveals the way these young doctors engage the contradictions of their circumstances shedding new light on debates about the effects of medical training the impact of traditional healing and the purposes of medicine
