RATIONALE FOR TEACHING ECONOMICS

People as well as countries have the need for more and better quality goods and services such as better food, clothing, housing, schooling, hospital care and entertainment. These goods and services can only be obtained by the use of resources such as Land, Labour, Capital and Entrepreneurship which are scarce relative to the demand for them, and which, therefore, need to be managed. Economics, indeed, is the study of the management of relatively scarce resources for satisfying the needs of individuals, organizations and countries.

As a practical subject, Economics helps to provide an effective framework for individuals, firms and governments to identify their basic economic problems, and make necessary decisions and policies for raising the living standards of people and societies. Indeed, the study of Economics helps the individual to develop skills for managing his/her economic resources efficiently both in the family and in business. The course further equips students with the basic tools required for further studies in the subject.

GENERAL AIMS

The syllabus is designed to help students to:

1. acquire basic economic concepts, principles and tools for economic analysis.
2. acquire greater understanding of the roles of consumers, businesses and governments in economic development.
3. develop the ability to analyze the structure, and functions of commercial, agricultural, industrial and financial institutions.
4. appreciate the economic development policies and strategies of the government and their inherent problems.
5. understand the relationship between the Ghanaian economy and external economies in respect of trade and integration.

SCOPE OF CONTENT

The course covers the concepts and general principles of economics at both the micro and macro levels. It provides adequate knowledge for economic deliberations and analysis of economic issues by students who will terminate their education at the SSS level. It also provides a sound foundation for those who will wish to further their studies in Economics.

PRE-REQUISITE SKILLS AND ALLIED SUBJECTS

Core Mathematics is a necessary pre-requisite for the study of Economics. For students who will undertake advanced studies, Elective Mathematics will be very useful. Also, subjects such as Geography, Agriculture and Social Studies enhance the study of Economics and they provide a useful background and deeper insights.

ECONOMICS; "AS" & "A" Level/SHS: Road to Graduation. V.1 James Safo, 2023-06-27 This book is over 630 pages and covers all the Cambridge International AS 1 Basic economic ideas and resource allocation 2 The price system and the microeconomy 3 Government microeconomic intervention 4 The macroeconomy 5 Government macroeconomic intervention 6 International economic issues Economics is an area of social studies that measure how people satisfy unlimited wants and needs with limited resources available There are three levels of economics namely macroeconomics microeconomics and home economics The science of economics combines and uses many other social studies There are many standard themes of economics including Inflation Recession Gross Domestic Product Supply Demand Behaviour and Utility theory Production theory Price theory Prices rise Interest Markets Capital These are explained in the book Microeconomics is the social science that studies the implications of incentives prices resource prices and production methods and decisions specifically how those affect the utilisation and distribution of resources The microeconomic theory deals with four crucial issues at an individual What should be produced How much should it be produced How can one make the best use of given resources while producing goods and services to maximise production and consumption efficiency or maximise the returns for an individual firm industry household etc How the goods and services can be distributed for maximum well being

Macroeconomic Macroeconomics is the branch of economics that deals with the structure performance behaviour performance and decision making of an economy It focuses on the aggregate changes in the economy such as inflation unemployment rate national income gross domestic product GDP growth rate economic growth Markets business consumers government behaviour and Price Level Macroeconomics attempts to measure how well an economy is performing understand what forces drive it and project how performance can improve The two main areas of macroeconomic research are long term economic growth and shorter term business cycles Some of the critical questions addressed by macroeconomics include What causes unemployment What causes inflation What creates or stimulates economic growth Macroeconomics Developed as a discipline in its own right in the 1930s when it became apparent that classic economic theory derived from microeconomics was only sometimes directly applicable to nationwide economic behaviour Classic economic theory assumes that economies always return to a state of equilibrium In essence this means that if demand for a product increases the prices for that product get higher and individual companies rise to meet the demand However during the Great Depression there was low output and wide scale unemployment Clearly this did not indicate equilibrium on a macroeconomic scale Macroeconomics helps a government evaluate an economy is performance and decide on actions to increase or slow growth Macroeconomics is a field of study used to evaluate performance and develop actions that can positively affect an economy Home economics also known as domestic economy human sciences and home science or family and consumer sciences is a field of studies that concerns the management and economics of the community and home Although it was mostly meant for girls and young women all genders are involved in home economics classes these days
