Multivariate Analysis Klaus Backhaus, Bernd Erichson, Sonja Gensler, Rolf Weiber, Thomas Weiber, 2025-08-23 We live in a world driven by data. Yet data alone holds no value unless we can extract meaningful insights from it. Multivariate data analysis provides the essential tools to unlock this potential. This book offers an easy to understand introduction to the most important methods of multivariate data analysis. With a strong application focus it requires only basic knowledge of mathematics and statistics. The methods are demonstrated through numerical examples and illustrated with detailed case studies. Additionally the introductory chapter refreshes key statistical fundamentals relevant to all methods covered in the book. For the 3rd edition all chapters have been thoroughly reviewed and recalculated using the latest version of IBM SPSS.

Contents: Introduction to empirical data analysis, Regression analysis, Analysis of variance, Discriminant analysis, Logistic regression, Contingency analysis, Factor analysis, Cluster analysis, Conjoint analysis. The original German version is now available in its 18th edition. In 2015 this book was honored by the Federal Association of German Market and Social Researchers as the textbook that has shaped market research and practice in German speaking countries. A Chinese version is available in its 3rd edition. On the website www.multivariate-methods.info the authors provide examples in Excel and R as well as additional material to facilitate the understanding of the different multivariate methods. In addition interactive flashcards are available to the reader for reviewing selected focal points. Download the Springer Nature Flashcards App and use exclusive content to test your knowledge.

Applied Econometric Analysis Using Cross Section and Panel Data

Deep Mukherjee, 2024-01-03 This book is a collection of 20 chapters on chosen topics from cross section and panel data econometrics. It explores both theoretical and practical aspects of selected cutting edge techniques which are gaining popularity among applied econometricians while following the motto of keeping things simple. Each chapter gives a basic introduction to one such method, directs readers to supplementary references and shows an application. The book takes into account that A) The field of econometrics is evolving very fast and leading textbooks are trying to cover some of the recent developments in revised editions. This book offers basic introduction to state of the art techniques and recent advances in econometric models with detailed applications from various developing and developed countries. B) An applied researcher or practitioner may prefer reference books with a simple introduction to an advanced econometric method or model with no theorems but with a longer discussion on empirical application. Thus an applied econometrics textbook covering these cutting edge methods is highly warranted. A void this book attempts to fills. The book does not aim at providing a comprehensive coverage of econometric methods. The 20 chapters in this book represent only a sample of the important topics in modern econometrics with special focus on econometrics of cross section and panel data while also recognizing that it is not possible to accommodate all types of models and methods even in these two categories. The book is unique as authors have also provided the theoretical background if any and brief literature review behind the empirical applications. It is a must have.

Asset Allocation Considerations for Pension Insurance Funds Christian Hertrich,2013-04-16 The central research objective of the dissertation is to assess the suitability of Social Responsible Investments SRIs as well as alternative investments for the strategic asset allocation of German Pension Insurance Funds Pensionskassen Using a Vector Error Correction model we estimate the data generating process of the underlying input variables A bootstrap simulation allows generating future return paths of the underlying portfolios These return distributions will subsequently be used as input for different asset allocation strategies The empirical results of our research study offer valuable conclusions 1 SRI structured portfolios consistently perform better than conventional portfolios 2 including alternative investments has a beneficial effect on the risk return distribution and 3 derivative overlay structures mitigate downside risk exposure without impacting average fund performance In terms of alternative allocation models 1 high equity portfolios lead to an increase in return volatility without sufficiently compensating investors with higher returns 2 hedging against price increases by engineering a portfolio with inflation suitable assets yields mixed results 3 a portfolio composition that combines derivative overlay strategies for both equities and corporate bonds and uses SRI screened assets as underlying generates the best results

Dynamic Models for Volatility and Heavy Tails Andrew C.

Harvey,2013-04-22 The volatility of financial returns changes over time and for the last thirty years Generalized Autoregressive Conditional Heteroscedasticity GARCH models have provided the principal means of analyzing modeling and monitoring such changes Taking into account that financial returns typically exhibit heavy tails that is extreme values can occur from time to time Andrew Harvey's new book shows how a small but radical change in the way GARCH models are formulated leads to a resolution of many of the theoretical problems inherent in the statistical theory The approach can also be applied to other aspects of volatility The more general class of Dynamic Conditional Score models extends to robust modeling of outliers in the levels of time series and to the treatment of time varying relationships The statistical theory draws on basic principles of maximum likelihood estimation and by doing so leads to an elegant and unified treatment of nonlinear time series modeling

Methodological Approaches for Workplace Research and Management Chiara Tagliaro, Marko Orel, Ying Hua, 2023-09-14

This book explores a wide range of methodological approaches to examining various forms of workplace physical environments. It focuses on pressing questions regarding the relationship between the spatial component of the workplace including its progressive hybridisation with other physical and virtual places and its users be they public organisations private companies or start up businesses and solopreneurs. International contributors address a range of methods that are applicable both in research and practice to confront the most cutting edge workplace related issues. The assumption is that work has been changing thanks to the virtualisation of many activities and that homeworking and hybrid working modes are expected to increase significantly after Covid 19. Thus spaces hosting work need to adapt accordingly. Researchers and practitioners have been struggling to determine how much space will be needed by companies what kind of space will better host different work activities which workers are more suited for working from home and which instead are more productive if they have an office based working arrangement. The necessary evolution of the office should follow evidence based decisions on the abovementioned matters which are only possible through rigorous investigations. This volume aims to support these investigations which call for inventive applications of qualitative and quantitative methodologies. By doing so the book will encourage solid practices and thorough research agendas in workplace design management and use. Contributions come from different disciplines including facilities management real estate management psychology design architecture sociology and organisation studies. Chapters highlight the importance of appropriate methodologies borrowed from different fields in addressing contemporary questions and developments in workplaces. By analysing the challenges and opportunities for conducting rigorous research in different workplace settings this book will be critical reading for both academics and students as well as for decision makers and professionals who deal with workplace design and management.
