

"Cradle of Civilization" Answers & Explanations

The Fertile Crescent offered an abundant water supply and mineral-rich soil replenished by the flooding of the two large rivers. Because the valley was wide and flat, the rivers snaked their way along. Farming communities that developed along the rivers had little contact with one another, and so established their own individual cultures. These small city-states had their own governments, traditions, and languages and became quite advanced for their time.

To control the floods and cultivate more land to feed the region's large and growing population, large-scale irrigation projects were developed. The people in Mesopotamia also made extensive use of metal. They even learned to make bronze, an alloy of copper and tin, for tools, weapons, and art.

The bustling city-states also led to a division of labor. People began to specialize in the skills they had and jobs they did. Some farmed, others were metalworkers, others wove fabric for clothing, and so forth. Then they relied on one another to meet their needs through trade. To record sales of products and land, the people of Mesopotamia developed a written language called cuneiform. Writing not only allowed them to record business deals, but also laws and stories. Tales from the region have been recorded in the Old Testament Bible, the Muslim Qur'an, and other texts.

Because of its advancements, the Fertile Crescent is often referred to as the "Cradle of Civilization," the location of the world's earliest civilizations. The city-states of Mesopotamia did, in fact, have all of the characteristics of civilizations. They had cities; government; religion; a stable food supply; a social structure with division of labor; highly developed culture; technology; arts; along with the final necessary characteristic: writing.

According to the passage, the Fertile Crescent is called the "Cradle of Civilization" because

- A. it offered an abundant water supply and mineral rich soil.
- B. city-states there established their own individual cultures.
- C. the people of Mesopotamia developed cuneiform writing.
- D. its many advancements were characteristic of civilizations. *

(This point is explained in the last paragraph. However Choice C is arguably correct, also, since earlier farming communities are thought to have had all of the other characteristics except writing.)

Which definition BEST FITS the use of the word "cultivate" in the second paragraph?

- A. to improve and prepare *
- B. to grow or tend, as a crop
- C. to seek the friendship of
- D. to promote the growth of

(Though Choices A, B, and D all can relate to farming, the word is used in reference to the land – irrigating it making it fit for crops.)

Which discoveries could prove that the Fertile Crescent was NOT the "Cradle of Civilization"? (Check all that apply.)

- | | |
|---|---|
| <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Older cities could be discovered. | <input type="checkbox"/> New forms of art could develop. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Texts could have different stories. | <input type="checkbox"/> Ancient farming might be located. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Other forms of technology are found. | <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Earlier forms of writing may exist. |

(The answers checked are correct, however others COULD be acceptable, if logically explained. The possibility of archaeologists uncovering new discoveries always exists.)
