It offers a new insight into understanding of the nexus between ideology, the state and nation building as depicted in history education and school textbooks. It especially focuses on the interpretation of social and political change, significant events, looking for possible biases and omissions, leadership and the contribution of key individuals and continuities. The book discusses various aspects of historical narratives and some selected key events in defining identity and nation building. It considers the role of historiography in dominant historical narratives. It analyses history education in both local and global settings and its significance in promoting values education and intercultural and global understanding. It is argued that historical narratives add pedagogies grounded in constructivist, metacognitive and transformational paradigms have the power to engage the learner in significant and meaningful learning experiences informed by multiple discourses of our historical narratives and those of other nations. The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1985 The English Cyclopædia, 1856 The Alpine Journal, 1924-05 General Catalogue of Printed Books to 1955 British Museum.
