Peacekeeping and the International System Norrie MacQueen, 2006-10-16 A comprehensive text on the history and politics of peacekeeping primarily in the post World War Two period but dealing also with pre 1939 precursors While it will deal principally with operations undertaken by the United Nations it will also One Hundred Days of Silence Jared A. Cohen, 2006-12-28 One Hundred Days of Silence is an important investigation into the 1994 Rwandan genocide and American foreign policy During one hundred days of spring eight hundred thousand Rwandan Tutsis and sympathetic Hutus were slaughtered in one of the most atrocious events of the twentieth century Drawing on declassified documents and testimony of policy makers Jared Cohen critically reconstructs the historical account of tacit policy that led to nonintervention His analysis examines the questions of what the United States knew about the genocide and how the world's most powerful nation turned a blind eye The study reveals the ease at which an administration can not only fail to intervene but also silence discussion of the crisis The book argues that despite the extent of the genocide the American government was not motivated to act due to a lack of economic interest With precision and passion One Hundred Days of Silence frames the debate surrounding this controversial history An Introduction to the Criminology of Genocide William R. Pruitt, 2021-01-15 This textbook provides an accessible and interdisciplinary introduction to genocide with an emphasis on the criminal aspect of genocide. It draws on sociological, political, and historical concepts to discuss how they contribute to our understanding of genocide as an international crime. It walks students through the evolution of genocide as a criminal act and the legal responses available, using case studies to demonstrate how concepts work in action. It combines Criminology and Law, arguing that Criminology can help explain the why and how while Law can explain the responses to crime. This textbook includes a chapter on genocide denial as well as discussion questions at the end of the chapters, boxed examples, and further reading. It speaks to students in Criminology, Law, Socio-Legal Studies, and beyond, as well as to practitioners in the criminal justice field. The Video Librarian, 2005 Cinematic Social Studies William B. Russell, Stewart Waters, 2017-01-01 Action Film is a common and powerful element in the social studies classroom, and Cinematic Social Studies explores teaching and learning social studies with film. Teaching with film is a prominent teaching strategy utilized by many teachers on a regular basis. Cinematic Social Studies moves readers beyond the traditional perceptions of teaching film and explores the vast array of ideas and strategies related to teaching social studies with film. The contributing authors of this volume seek to explain through an array of ideas and visions what cinematic social studies can and should look like while providing research and rationales for why teaching social studies with film is valuable and important. This volume includes twenty-four scholarly chapters discussing relevant topics of importance to cinematic social studies. The twenty-four chapters are divided into three sections. This stellar collection of writings includes contributions from noteworthy scholars like Keith Barton, Wayne Journell, James Damico, Cynthia Tyson, and many more. A Practice of Ethics for Global Politics Jack L. Amoureux, 2015-10-05 What kind of ethics in world politics is possible if there is no foundation for moral knowledge or global reality is at least complex and contingent. Furthermore, how can an ethics grapple with difference, a persistent and confounding feature for global politics? This book responds to the call for a bold and creative approach to ethics that avoids assuming or aspiring to universality and instead prioritizes difference, complexity, and uncertainty by turning to reflexivity, not as method or methodology but as a practice of ethics for politics. This practice of ethical reflexivity offers individuals, organizations, and communities tools to recognize, interrogate, and potentially change the stories they tell about politics, about constraints, notions of responsibility, and visions of desirability. The benefits and limits of ethical reflexivity are investigated by the author, who engages writing on critique, rhetoric, affect, and relationality and carefully considers dominant and alternative framings of difficult issues in International Relations (IR): the 1994 genocide in Rwanda and the US policies of enhanced interrogation and drone strikes. This path-breaking study provokes new possibilities for agency and action and contributes to a growing literature in IR on reflexivity by uniquely elaborating its promise as an ethics for politics and by drawing on thinkers less utilized in discussions of reflexivity, such as Hannah Arendt, Michel Foucault, and Aristotle. This book will appeal to scholars and upper-level graduates in several sub-fields of IR, including

Guerin, 2015-01-09 On Not Looking The Paradox of Contemporary Visual Culture focuses on the image and our relationship to it as a site of not looking The collection demonstrates that even though we live in an image saturated culture many images do not look at what they claim viewers often do not look at the images and in other cases we are encouraged by the context of exhibition not to look at images Contributors discuss an array of images photographs films videos press images digital images paintings sculptures and drawings from everyday life museums and galleries and institutional contexts such as the press and political arena The themes discussed include politics of institutional exhibition and perception of images censored repressed and banned images transformations to practices of not looking as a result of new media interventions images in

(Norton Global Ethics Series) Rory Stewart, Gerald Knaus, 2011-08-15 Best selling author Rory Stewart and political economist Gerald Knaus examine the impact of large scale interventions from Bosnia to Afghanistan A fresh and critically important perspective on foreign interventions Washington Post Can Intervention Work distills Rory Stewart's author of The Places In Between and Gerald Knaus's remarkable firsthand experiences of political and military interventions into a potent examination of what we can and cannot achieve in a new era of nation building As they delve into the massive military driven efforts in Bosnia Iraq and Afghanistan the authors reveal each effort's enormous consequences for international relations human rights and our understanding of state building Stewart and Knaus parse carefully the philosophies that have informed interventionism from neoconservative to liberal imperialist and draw on their diverse experiences in the military nongovernmental organizations and the Iraqi provincial government to reveal what we can ultimately expect from large scale interventions and how they might best realize positive change in the world Author and columnist Fred Kaplan calls Can Intervention Work the most thorough examination of the subject of intervention that I've read in a while Led by Faith Immaculée Ilibagiza, 2009-09-15 For three months in the spring of 1994 the African nation of Rwanda descended into one of the most vicious and bloody genocides the world has ever seen Immaculée Ilibagiza a young university student miraculously survived the savage killing spree that left most of her family friends and a million of her fellow citizens dead Immaculée's remarkable story of survival was documented in her first book Left to Tell Discovering God Amidst the Rwandan Holocaust In Led By Faith Immaculée takes us with her as her remarkable journey continues Through her simple and eloquent voice we experience her hardships and heartache as she struggles to survive and to find meaning and purpose in the aftermath of the holocaust It is the story of a naive and vulnerable young woman orphaned and alone navigating through a bleak and dangerously hostile world with only an abiding faith in God to guide and protect her Immaculée fends off sinister new predators seeks out and comforts scores of children orphaned by the genocide and searches for love and companionship in a land where hatred still flourishes Then fearing again for her safety as Rwanda's war crime trials begin Immaculée flees to America to begin a new chapter of her life as a refugee and immigrant a stranger in a strange land With the same courage and faith in God that led her through the darkness of genocide Immacul e discovers a new life that was beyond her wildest dreams as a small girl in a tiny village in one of Africa s poorest countries It is in the United States her adopted country where Immacul e can finally look back at all that has happened to her and truly understand why God spared her life so that she would be left to tell her story to the world

Promoting Peace, Inciting Violence Jolyon Mitchell, 2013-01-04 This book explores how media and religion combine to play a role in promoting peace and inciting violence It analyses a wide range of media from posters cartoons and stained glass to websites radio and film and draws on diverse examples from around the world including Iran Rwanda and South Africa Part One considers how various media forms can contribute to the creation of violent environments by memorialising past hurts by instilling fear of the other by encouraging audiences to fight to die or to kill neighbours for an apparently greater good Part Two explores how film can bear witness to past acts of violence how film makers can reveal the search for truth justice and reconciliation and how new media can become sites for non violent responses to terrorism and government oppression To what extent can popular media arts contribute to imagining and building peace transforming weapons into art swords into ploughshares Jolyon Mitchell skillfully combines personal narrative practical insight and academic analysis Film and Genocide Kristi M. Wilson, Tomás F. Crowder-Taraborrelli, 2012-01-04 Film and Genocide brings together scholars of film and of genocide to discuss film representations both fictional and documentary of the Holocaust the Armenian genocide and genocides in Chile Australia Rwanda and the United States Since 1955 when Alain Resnais created his experimental documentary Night and Fog about the Nazis mass killings of Jews and other ostracized groups filmmakers have struggled with using this medium to tell such difficult stories to re create the sociopolitical contexts of genocide and to urge awareness and action among viewers This volume looks at such issues as realism versus fiction the challenge of depicting atrocities in a manner palatable to spectators and film distributors the Holocaust film as a model for films about other genocides and the role of new technologies in disseminating films about genocide Film and Genocide also includes interviews with three film directors who discuss their experiences in working with deeply disturbing images and bringing hidden stories to life Irek Dobrowolski director of The Portraitist 2005 a documentary about Wilhelm Brasse an Auschwitz Birkenau prisoner ordered to take more than 40 000 photos at the camp Nick Hughes director of 100 Days 2005 a dramatic film about the Rwandan mass killings and Greg Barker director of Ghosts of Rwanda 2004 a television documentary for Frontline
