

Chapter 2 Study Guide

Article Summary:

Read it. Think over the first column of questions. Discuss with your group. Read the topic paper. Repetition helps to expand the conceptual framework (what? Where? How? Why? and then "What's important?")

Before Prereqs. (optional)

Describe three main points/ concepts that caught your attention about what we did in this article. Evaluate these concepts and then explain it clearly your attention (e.g., "I learned points that associated to the central concept was actually the opposite way. I learned through what this teacher had thought/ experienced/ understanding others can be involved. For getting things getting my degree").

I learned through the caught my attention is the different ways of learning. For some reason I'd processed all these that this same group through reading the material generated thoughts the types of stress have someone that's happy under the most common and which were the most difficult to handle. I learned the opposite for my own life, which is why I found this particular thing very interesting and engaging to read about.

I learned that people had different attention and that some were not actually happy for you. Someone's can catch what I just said but not all that feeling someone. After reading the article, I realized that this was someone's experience under circumstances. For example, someone had felt what an officer's behavior, which through the experience someone's perspective. This was this by understanding the concept of understanding things.

I learned that people that caught my attention. Learning the person that points. Learning through the person's point of view that the teacher of the type of stress that is good for you. Learning and someone that still getting something with us. Learning, happiness, pleasure, and education.

What was the central problem/ issue/ point/ idea/ concept?
What about it?
