A Self-Fulfilling Prophecy Katherine Harvey, 2022-01-01 In recent years the geopolitical rivalry between Saudi Arabia and Iran has dominated the headlines Many have charted the polarization between a Saudi led Sunni camp and an Iranian led Shia one assuming that a predominantly Shia state like Iraq would automatically ally with Iran In this compelling account Katherine Harvey tells a different story Iraq's alignment with Iran was not a foregone conclusion Rather Saudi efforts to undermine Iran have paradoxically empowered it Harvey investigates why the Saudis refused to engage with Iraq's post 2003 Shia led government despite continual outreach by Iraq's new leaders and considerable pressure from the United States She finds that certain deeply ingrained assumptions predisposed Saudi leaders to see a Shia led Iraq as naturally beholden to Iran the view that Iran is inherently expansionist and the belief that Arab Shia tend to be loyal to it This outlook was simplistic even downright inaccurate and in refusing to engage the Saudis created a self fulfilling prophecy As Harvey demonstrates members of Iraq's new government initially sought to establish a positive relationship with Saudi Arabia and to pursue a course independent from Iran But isolated and rejected by Saudi King Abdullah Iraq ultimately had nowhere else to turn War Report Trevor Royle,2012-01-27 Whenever man has gone to war in modern times there has been no shortage of men and women to write about his exploits They were known as war correspondents a type of journalists whom General Wolseley called the newly invented curse to armies This study of the war correspondent's view of war traces the story from Russell's pioneering work for The Times in the Crimea to the assorted press radio and television journalists who accompanied the British task force to the Falklands in 1982 In particular it investigates the lives and careers of six of the greatest war correspondents of all time G W Stevens who accompanied Kitchener to the Sudan and who introduced the colour story to war reporting Edgar Wallace the future thriller writer who scooped the rest of the world at the end of the Boer War Charles Court Repington the military correspondent who exposed the scandal of the shortage of shells in 1915 Claud Cockburn a communist who adopted a self confessed partisan approach during the Spanish Civil War Chester Wilmot perhaps the greatest of radio war correspondents who brought the Second World War into the living rooms of Britain James Cameron a pacifist who uncovered stories of atrocities in Korea and who demanded to be published and damned There also includes a discussion on the problems of using television to cover modern war War Reporting for Cowards Chris Ayres,2006-06-07 The story of one of the most fascinating women of all time Maria Eva Duarte who rose from poverty to become one of the richest most powerful women in the world Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, Cumulative Index United States.
