The Electrical Review, 1917 Robotics Goes MOOC Bruno Siciliano, 2025-04-30

With the massive and pervasive diffusion of robotics technology in our society, we are heading towards a new type of AI, which we call Physical AI, at the intersection of Robotics with AI. That is the science of robots and intelligent machines performing a physical action to help humans in their jobs of daily lives. Physical assistance to disabled or elderly people, reduction of risks and fatigue at work, improvement of production processes of material goods, and their sustainability, safety, efficiency, and reduction of environmental impact in transportation of people and goods, progress of diagnostic and surgical techniques are all examples of scenarios where the new InterAction Technology (IAT) is indispensable. The interaction between robots and humans must be managed in a safe and reliable manner. The robot becomes an ideal assistant, like the tool used by a surgeon, a craftsman, a skilled worker. The new generation of robots will co-exist with humans, not only in the workplace but gradually in homes and communities, providing support in services, entertainment, education, health, manufacturing, and care. As widely discussed above, interaction plays a crucial role for the development of modern robotic systems. Grasping, manipulation, and cooperative manipulators are covered in the first part of the third book of the Robotics Goes MOOC project, respectively in Chapter 1 by Prattichizzo et al., Chapter 2 by Kao et al., and Chapter 3 by Caccavale. Specific interaction issues, along with the development of digital and physical interfaces, are dealt with in Chapter 4 by Marchal et al. and in Chapter 5 by Croft et al., respectively. Interaction between robot and human also means that a robot can be worn by a human, as presented in Chapter 6 by Vitiello et al. A different type of interaction at a cognitive and planning level is the focus of Chapter 7 by Lima, devoted to
