Resources in Education ,1996 English/language Arts Curriculum Resource Handbook ,1992 Children With Special Needs Katharine T. Bartlett,Judith Welch Wegner,1987-01-01 The presence of children with special needs in public schools has created diverse and shifting tensions During the 1970s parents and advocates sought to remove existing barriers and secure greater educational opportunity for handicapped children in public education insisting that all children can learn and that all children suffer adverse effects from the exclusion of the handicapped from public schools The legislation that was the product of their efforts The Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975 EAHCA has become central to the continuing debate over the role of public schools in educating children with special needs The authors of the essays included in this volume contribute to this debate in two ways First they evaluate the success of EAHCA and other legal mechanisms designed to ensure that the requirements of children with special needs are adequately met from a variety of historical empirical analytical and comparative perspectives Second they suggest steps that might be taken to help such legal strategems attain their goals These suggestions respond to tensions that have shaped and will continue to shape the reaction of educators parents and the legal system to children with special needs during the years to come Official Guide to

TESOL Newsletter Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages,1989 Literacy S. N. Colamery,2000 Literacy is defined as the ability to read and write One would expect that as the world enters the 21st century of the Third Millennium we wouldn t even need to discuss such a topic But alas that is not the case Even in the United States the only so called superpower left standing at the moment the rate of illiteracy is astonishing Some cynics say that there is no cause for alarm since the rich elite class needs millions of workers for low paid jobs and the less educated the better Others say that the lack of literacy is the fault of the schools and that if we double the pay of the teachers they will somehow suddenly be interested in teaching Still others say that with television and VCRs everywhere who needs to read and write anyway In this book we have collected citations sorted and indexed them in a way which we hope will be useful for those seeking further information on this topic At the beginning we offer excerpts from some of the fundamental reports summarising the dismal situation
