people are surprised by the range of what they have to write reports letters applications minutes essays protocols policy statements articles the list goes on They also have to face a constant procession of emails which people tend not to count as real writing but which are every bit as important and which even the decisive can take two hours or more a day to deal with
At the same time we seem particularly ill prepared for all this writing The task is badly defined time consuming and difficult Courses on how to do it are rare Agreement on good writing seems to be rarer still and the whole process often appears to be more about internal power squabbles than external communication Not surprisingly many writers in the health services dislike it and avoid it whenever possible Others proceed reluctantly without confidence and without any satisfaction at the
