

Programming the Maxon SM-4150M or the GE Monogram Mobile Radios

By Scott Lichtsum KB9HLY

Turned into an article by Robert W. Maister WA1MDX

I recently ended up with some Maxon SM-4150M mobile radios that I wanted to program. After searching online I only found tidbits of information available on these.

Turns out they are the same as the GE Monogram series. I had assumed GE produced them for Maxon and then rebranded them as their own; it's the other way around. Maxon made them for both companies; GE just put their label on them. They can be programmed with a suitable serial programming cable, the receptacle is inside the radio so you must remove the top cover to plug it in. The schematic of this cable is available online and with some time and effort and money it could be duplicated. There is also a schematic of the SM-4000 programming interface available online as well, so feel free to build one if you prefer, but that will also require purchasing the correct connector to mate with the socket on the circuit board as well as some other components for level conversion. For me, it's always better to be free or cheap, so I found an alternative: since the radio must be opened anyway, just remove the serial EEPROM and reprogram it directly.
