Strom,Robert D. Strom,2023-11-01 The purpose of this book is to help secondary school principals and college faculty fulfill their key role for continuous improvement planning of educational practices and safety at their institution Rapid social and technological advances have motivated the consideration of student voice in schools across the United States By merging student voice and educator expertise an intergenerational perspective can emerge that more accurately portrays the strengths and limitations of a school Strom and Strom began their research on student voice by partnering with adolescents and principals from several schools to identify topics they saw as appropriate for polling to improve schools This effort led to the development of ten polls on school stress career exploration time management attention and distraction tutoring peer support school cheating frustration cyberbullying and Internet learning Every poll contains 15 to 20 multiple choice items The process model for polling includes a step by step procedure that educational leaders can use to plan and implement school improvement Different methods of data analysis and ways to report overall evidence based school results are presented by age gender grade and ethnicity Student polling is distinctive from other assessment strategies because the target for data gathering is a single school without comparison to other schools This narrow base to assess student voice ensures poll results are anonymous and have local relevance to guide stakeholder responses The results of polling can provide data based evidence that can be used for continuous education improvement planning An additional benefit is to separately assess students in special education gifted and talented programs and second language acquisition learners Our web site at learningpolls.org is intended to further inform educational leaders and invite their collaboration U.S. History United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions. Subcommittee on Education and Early Childhood Development,2005 Polling Students for School Improvement and Reform Paris S. Strom,Robert D. Strom,2015-11-01 People generally acknowledge the superiority of adolescents in using technology tools needed for learning in the future The purpose of this book is to describe an online polling strategy that allows adolescents to make known how they view conditions of learning at their school A school improvement model illustrates how to combine results of student polling with stakeholders perceptions in the scheme of school reform Student polling differs from other strategies because the target for gathering data is a single school This deliberately narrow base for sampling student opinion ensures poll results have local relevance that can motivate stakeholder involvement and guide their response Over 14 000 secondary students have completed polls examined in the text These ten polls include career exploration time management selective attention and distraction motivation for Internet learning tutoring peer support cheating frustration cyberbullying and school stress Students are the stakeholders with the most to gain or lose in efforts to keep American education competitive Accordingly their views should be sought as part of decision making about reform When student opinion and adult observation are considered an intergenerational perspective can emerge that more accurately portrays institutional strengths and limitations School principals superintendents and state department of education leaders are invited to consider a collaborative project with the authors Software offers administrators rapid feedback on whole school results Finding out how special education gifted and talented and second language acquisition students view their conditions of learning gives additional insight about school improvement Moral Education in China Wangbei Ye,2023-02-20 The book presents up to date research on moral education teaching and teachers in China By providing an accessible practical yet scholarly source of moral education education aims and teachers ethical roles in China which is also an international concern the author systematically reviews Moral Education curriculum moral education pre service teacher education current policies and practices of Moral Education teaching and teachers The book will be resourceful for researchers practitioners and policymakers in moral education citizenship education and teacher education
