Let me begin by welcoming all of you to today's event and thanking (NAME OF PERSON WHO INTRODUCED YOU) for that kind introduction.

I'm very pleased to have been invited to speak here today on what I know is a very special day. It's special for the graduates, for their proud parents and grandparents, and for their very relieved teachers. Just wait until these students are graduating college. Then their parents will be the Relieved ones.

As I begin, I have to say, I think the best speeches are those that have a great beginning, a memorable end, and not much in between. I will try then to make a great speech. Today is one of those great occasions when we get to celebrate our young people - their

Middle School Graduation Speech:

Scripting the Moves Joanne W. Golann, 2025-03-18 An inside look at a no excuses charter school that reveals this educational model's strengths and weaknesses and how its approach shapes students. Silent single file lines. Detention for putting a head on a desk. Rules for how to dress, how to applaud, how to complete homework. Walk into some of the most acclaimed urban schools today and you will find similar recipes of behavior designed to support student achievement. But what do these scripts accomplish? Immersing readers inside a no excuses charter school, Scripting the Moves offers a telling window into an expanding model of urban education reform. Through interviews with students, teachers, administrators, and parents, and analysis of documents and data, Joanne Golann reveals that such schools actually dictate too rigid a level of social control for both teachers and their predominantly low-income Black and Latino students. Despite good intentions, scripts constrain the development of important interactional skills and reproduce some of the very inequities they mean to disrupt. Golann presents a fascinating, sometimes painful account of how no excuses schools use scripts to regulate students and teachers. She shows why scripts were adopted, what purposes they serve, and where they fall short. What emerges is a complicated story of the benefits of scripts but also their limitations in cultivating the tools students need to navigate college and other complex social institutions, tools such as flexibility, initiative, and ease with adults. Contrasting scripts with tools, Golann raises essential questions about what constitutes cultural capital and how this capital might be effectively taught. Illuminating and accessible, Scripting the Moves delves into the troubling realities behind current education reform and reenvisioning what it takes to prepare students for long-term success.

The Dragon Mother's Dream Gerhard Fischer, 2018-10-01 This is the story of a journey to Southern California, home of the American Dream, in search of fame and fortune. An Australian couple of mixed German-Chinese origin with their six-year-old son, Maximilian, leave their settled life in Sydney to move to California. The boy's Mandarin name is Xiaolong, meaning Little Dragon, and the dream of his mother is that he will one day become the number one golf player in the world. She has contacted Tiger Woods' first professional coach, who is supposed to take the boy under his wings, and she is determined to make her dream come true. The book follows Maximilian's exposure to playing junior golf, the highlights and pitfalls along with the emotional ups and downs of children involved in competitive sport, and their parents' sometimes conflicting and contradictory expectations, culminating in an account of Maximilian competing at the Junior World Championship in San Diego. But The Dragon Mother's Dream is more than a book about golf. Part travelogue and part parenting memoir, it is a journal about living in one of the most privileged places in California. It documents the everyday realities and idiosyncracies of the contemporary American way of life, recorded with great precision and attention to detail by an Australian writer of European roots and sometimes satirical, often ironic sensibilities. At the end of the book, the mother's dream takes an unexpected twist.

Bulag, Mark Selden, 2023-10-24 A striking first person account of the Cultural Revolution in Inner Mongolia embedded in a close examination of the historical evidence on China's minority nationality policies to the present During the Great Leap Forward as hundreds of thousands of Chinese famine refugees headed to Inner Mongolia Cheng Tiejun arrived in 1959 as a middle school student In 1966 when the PRC plunged into the Cultural Revolution he joined the Red Guards just as Inner Mongolia's longtime leader Ulanhu was purged With the military in control and with deepening conflict with the Soviet Union and its ally Mongolia on the border Mongols were accused of being nationalists and traitors A pogrom followed taking more than 16 000 Mongol lives the heaviest toll anywhere in China At the heart of this book are Cheng's first person recollections of his experiences as a rebel These are complemented by a close examination of the documentary record of the era from the three coauthors The final chapter offers a theoretical framework for Inner Mongolia's repression The repression's goal the authors show was not to destroy the Mongols as a people or as a culture it was not a genocide It was however a politicide an attempt to break the will of a nationality to exercise leadership of their autonomous region This unusual narrative provides urgently needed primary source material to understand the events of the Cultural Revolution while also offering a novel explanation of contemporary Chinese minority politics involving the Uyghurs Tibetans and Mongols

Reconciling Opposites W. Royce Clark, 2022-02-04 The American justice system was founded on the idea of majority rule but in a democracy this is achievable only if the majority has the interests of the whole at heart Since the days of America's founding white Christian males created laws from their standpoint as the majority leading them to exercise power in a largely majoritarian way rather than upholding the interests of all citizens The nation has not realized its stated ideals of equality of liberty opportunity and justice for all As a solution W Royce Clark formulates a non majoritarian ethic based not on any majority but on a universal instinct the combination of Albert Schweitzer's will to live and Friedrich Nietzsche's will to power along with democratic principles articulated by John Rawls and James Madison which would represent all citizens
