examined in a study that included the following approaches review of the sector s structure characteristics institutional and social context employment practices changing conditions and available education and training in depth case studies of four auto repair shops and dealerships two small one medium sized and one large firm and identification of economic employment and training trends It was discovered that in response to stagnation of the Dutch motor vehicle sales and repair industry in the 1990s both the Dutch government and the industry have increased their commitment to vocational training and inservice courses and have created a training infrastructure that compares favorably with those of other sectors in the Dutch economy All four businesses studied in depth were managed by individuals who were very involved in training had access to good facilities and opportunities for on the job teaching training and could avail themselves of good external provisions for inservice training Quality of service was an important element of training philosophy Training needs were not always analyzed in a very structured way and none of the businesses studied evaluated systematically the costs benefits of training
