No Peer Rivals Ionut Popescu, 2025-04-02 With military maneuvers in Taiwan and the South China Sea and the eruption of war in Ukraine the past few years have brought deteriorating diplomatic relations and increasing military and economic tensions between the United States China and Russia After benefiting from the geopolitical and financial advantages conferred by a privileged status as a global superpower for three decades the United States needs to adapt to a geopolitical shift toward competition and confrontation in order to contain China s quest for global superpower status No Peer Rivals takes a major staple of International Relations scholarship the offensive realist paradigm and develops a comprehensive and practical grand strategy for the United States in this new era of Great Power Competition The No Peer Rival framework is grounded in a realistic assessment of the most likely courses of action adopted by China Russia and other important regional powers It prioritizes great power rivalry over other strategic goals and identifies China as the biggest threat to America s unique position in the international system This grand strategic approach carefully aligns the domestic sources of national power economic strength energy security and technological prowess to America s foreign policy and national security objectives In addition to recommending necessary changes to America s military and diplomatic strategies No Peer Rivals also demonstrates that a realistic approach to industrial policy international trade energy production and technological superiority offers the best chance for developing the sinews of power needed to

The realization that the use of components off the shelf COTS could reduce costs sparked the evolution of the massive parallel computing systems available today. The main problem with such systems is the development of suitable operating systems, algorithms, and application software that can utilise the potential processing power of large numbers of processors. As a result, systems comprising millions of processors are still limited in the applications they can efficiently solve. Two alternative paradigms that may offer a solution to this problem are Quantum Computers (QC) and Brain Inspired Computers (BIC). This book presents papers from the 14th edition of the biennial international conference on High Performance Computing From Clouds and Big Data to Exascale and Beyond, held in Cetraro, Italy, from 2-6 July 2018. It is divided into 4 sections covering data science, quantum computing, high performance computing, and applications. The papers presented during the workshop covered a wide spectrum of topics on new developments in the rapidly evolving supercomputing field, including QC and BIC, and a selection of contributions presented at the workshop are included in this volume. In addition, two papers presented at a workshop on Brain Inspired Computing in 2017 and an overview of work related to data science executed by a number of universities in the USA, parts of which were presented at the 2018 and previous workshops, are also included. The book will be of interest to all those whose work involves high performance computing.

Noise Jacques Attali, 1985. Listening Sacrificing Representing Repeating Composing: The politics of silence and sound by Susan McClary Canada's Early Nuclear Policy Brian Buckley, 2000. The advent of nuclear weapons introduced a complex new factor into world politics, drawing a line through history and ensuring that international relations would never be the same. By both accident and design, Canada was a central player in the new nuclear era as countries grappled with the implications of this revolutionary new development. Canada's decision, unique among pioneer atomic powers, not to acquire a nuclear arsenal has been used to buttress widely differing political agendas, while the factors that shaped the policy-making process have been largely ignored.

Origin and Evolution of the Gastropod Family Pomatiopsidae, with Emphasis on the Mekong River Triculinae George Davis, 2007-12. Describes an extraordinary endemic radiation of hydrobioid snails in the Mekong River (MR). The monophyletic radiation involving the subfamily Triculinae (3 tribes, 11 genera, 92 species) is larger than contemporaneous endemic freshwater gastropod faunas of centers of endemism such as lakes Tanganyika and Baikal. The study addresses the issue of how higher taxa arise by analyzing the series of adaptive radiations within the MR Triculinae. The worldwide family Hydrobiidae is polyphyletic; it includes 2 distinct lineages: the Hydrobiidae sensu stricto and the Pomatiopsidae, with the subfamilies Pomatiopsidae and Triculinae. The differences between the two families were masked by convergence in shell, radula, penis, operculum, etc.
