Life Sciences Paper 2 Memorandum February March 2014:

The Politics and Crisis Management of Animal Health Security John Connolly, 2016-03-09 The Politics and Crisis Management of Animal Health Security addresses the 2001 foot and mouth epidemic in the United Kingdom one of if not the most significant crises ever to face the UK farming industry Underpinned by interviews with politicians and bureaucrats and with significant primary documentary analysis the book shows that the crisis was a critical juncture in how disease outbreaks have been planned and managed ever since The author explores how this event affected policy and governance arrangements for managing subsequent disease induced threats such as avian influenza and bovine TB and concludes by considering the temporality of lesson learning by the UK government including the current and future challenges associated with managing incongruent risks e g flood protection swine flu and Ebola This book provides students of public policy and administration with a significant illustration of how key concepts and analytical lenses from public policy can be applied to the study of the contours of practical policy change

Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors William B. Bonvillian, Charles Weiss, 2015-08-18 The American economy faces two deep problems expanding innovation and raising the rate of quality job creation Both have roots in a neglected problem the resistance of Legacy economic sectors to innovation While the U S has focused its policies on breakthrough innovations to create new economic frontiers like information technology and biotechnology most of its economy is locked into Legacy sectors defended by technological economic political social paradigms that block competition from disruptive innovations that could challenge their models Americans like to build technology covered wagons and take them out west to open new innovation frontiers we don't head our wagons back east to bring innovation to our Legacy sectors By failing to do so the economy misses a major opportunity for innovation which is the bedrock of U S competitiveness and its standard of living Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors uses a new unifying conceptual framework to identify the shared features underlying structural obstacles to innovation in major Legacy sectors energy air and auto transport the electric power grid buildings manufacturing agriculture health care delivery and higher education and develops approaches to understand and transform them It finds both strengths and obstacles to innovation in the national innovation environments a new concept that combines the innovation system and the broader innovation context for a group of Asian and European economies Manufacturing is a major Legacy sector that presents a particular challenge because it is a critical stage in the innovation process By increasingly offshoring production the U S is losing important parts of its innovation capacity Innovate here produce here where the U S took all the gains of its strong innovation system at every stage is being replaced by innovate here produce there which threatens to lead to produce there innovate there To bring innovation to Legacy sectors authors William Bonvillian and Charles Weiss recommend that policymakers focus on all stages of innovation from research through implementation They should fill institutional gaps in the innovation system and take measures to address structural obstacles to needed disruptive innovations In the specific case of advanced manufacturing the production ecosystem can be recreated to reverse jobless innovation and add manufacturing led innovation to the U S s still strong research oriented innovation system Ecosystem-Based Fisheries Management Jason S. Link,Anthony R. Marshak,2022-01-25 By examining a suite of over 90 indicators for 9 major US fishery ecosystem jurisdictions the authors systematically track the progress the country has made towards advancing EBFM and making it an operational reality lessons which are applicable to oceans globally Assured Destruction David Bath,2020-03-15 Assured Destruction Building the Ballistic Missile Culture of the U S Air Force documents the rapid development of nuclear ballistic missiles in the United States and their equally swift demise after the Cuban Missile Crisis revealing how these drastic changes negatively influenced both the Air Force and the missile community David W Bath contends that the struggle to create and control nuclear ballistic missiles threatened both the dominance of the United States during an intensifying Cold War and the strategic airpower mission of the newly created Air Force The book details the strenuous efforts required to create and prepare a missile arsenal before the Cuban Missile Crisis which occurred only five years after the first missile was declared operational It uses the personal recollections of former missileers and the professional military education theses they wrote to highlight some of the concerns that have faced the missileers who operated and worked on these powerful weapons from 1957 to the present The highlight of the book however is the personal stories of the missileers who served during the missile crisis revealing the efforts that they went to in order to prepare these unique and untried weapons for what many thought might become the third world war This Changes Everything Naomi Klein,2014-09-16 With strong first hand reporting and an original provocative thesis Naomi Klein returns with this book on how the climate crisis must spur transformational political change Life of Permafrost Pey-Yi Chu,2021-01-04 By tracing the English word permafrost back to its Russian roots this unique intellectual history uncovers the multiple contested meanings of permafrost as a scientific idea and environmental phenomenon Principles of Clinical Medicine for Space Flight Michael R. Scully, Bernard S. Goldman,2022-03-01 Great innovations take place within great institutions Founded in 1819 Toronto General Hospital TGH is one of Canada s oldest hospitals and has created a nurturing environment for early Canadian innovations in heart surgery The Heartbeat of Innovation tells the story of the brilliant surgeons who worked there and the hospital environment that provided an incubator to the many people skilled perfusionists dedicated nurses and pioneering cardiologists who participated in the revolution in heart surgery that took place along University Avenue in Toronto Supported by historical records hospital archives personal memoirs and interviews this book is an extensive and descriptive account of the seemingly inexorable development of cardiac surgery at this leading academic health science centre It pursues several themes the complexity of this surgical specialty its generally male dominated nature the trend toward teamwork in practice and the evolution and incorporation of original research into this branch of healthcare These strands are woven together to demonstrate how the TGH has evolved into such a dominant leader in the competitive and demanding field of cardiac surgery Canadian hearts may beat with pride at the knowledge that one of the major stories in modern medicine took place here and continues here

The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation Philip McCann, Frank van Oort, John Goddard, 2016-11-25 Smart specialisation is the new policy approach to the development of regional innovation systems across Europe and it involves fostering innovative and entrepreneurial initiatives which are well tailored to the local context The different technologies skills profiles business activities institutions and sectors which reflect a region s economic strengths and potential are to be fostered and encouraged to diversify in ways which also exploit the region s linkages with broader global value chains Yet the ideas contained in the smart specialisation agenda have until now been primarily conceptual in nature The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation draws together some of the leading regional economists and scientists in Europe to analyse how smart specialisation is working in practice This book investigates different dimensions of the agenda as it is developing across parts of Europe from both quantitative and qualitative perspectives The quantitative analysis examines the nature of the diversification processes undertaken by regions and the interplay between the chosen local regional development priorities and the wider global value chain impacts of these choices Meanwhile the qualitative analysis examines the institutional opportunities and challenges facing policy makers and the key elements most likely to provide the underpinnings of a workable set of policy settings The book is aimed both at academic researchers interested in the interface between economic geography and regional innovation systems as well as at policy makers making public policy decisions related to regional development at the local city regional or national levels

Building Habitats on the Moon Haym Benaroya, 2018-01-11 Designing a habitat for the lunar surface You will need to know more than structural engineering There are the effects of meteoroids radiation and low gravity Then there are the psychological and psychosocial aspects of living in close quarters in a dangerous environment far away from home All these must be considered when the habitat is sized materials specified and structure designed This book provides an overview of various concepts for lunar habitats and structural designs and characterizes the lunar environment the technical and the nontechnical The designs take into consideration psychological comfort structural strength against seismic and thermal activity as well as internal pressurization and 16 g. Also discussed are micrometeoroid modeling risk and redundancy as well as probability and reliability with an introduction to analytical tools that can be useful in modeling uncertainties.

Fresh Kills Martin V. Melosi, 2020-01-28 Fresh Kills a monumental 2200 acre site on Staten Island was once the world's largest landfill. From 1948 to 2001 it was the main receptacle for New York City's refuse. After the 9/11 attacks it reopened briefly to receive human remains and rubble from the destroyed Twin Towers turning a notorious disposal site into a cemetery. Today a mammoth reclamation project is transforming the landfill site constructing an expansive park three times the size of Central Park. Martin V. Melosi provides a comprehensive chronicle of Fresh Kills that offers new insights into the growth and development of New York City and the relationship among consumption, waste and disposal. He traces the metamorphoses of the landscape following it from salt marsh to landfill to cemetery and looks ahead to the future park. By centering the problem of solid waste disposal, Melosi highlights the unwanted consequences of mass consumption. He presents the Fresh Kills space as an embodiment of massive waste linking consumption to the continuing presence of its discards. Melosi also uses the landfill as a lens for understanding Staten Island's history and its relationship with greater New York City. The first book on the history of the iconic landfill, Fresh Kills unites environmental, political and cultural history to offer a reflection on material culture, consumer practices and perceptions of value and worthlessness.

Biogeomorphic Responses to Wildfire in Fluvial Ecosystems Joan L. Florsheim, Alison P. O'Dowd, Anne Chin, 2024-05-22

Balkan Fighters in the Syrian War Tanja Dramac Jiries, 2021-09-15 This book analyses the process of the recruitment of foreign fighters from the Western Balkans specifically Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo to Syria and Iraq from 2012 to 2015. Utilizing in depth semi structured interviews with foreign fighters and their families as well as a number of relevant stakeholders it answers the question of what were the processes and circumstances leading up to the departure of foreign fighters from Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo and what informed their agency. The author draws on the theories of social movement approaches more specifically contentious politics literature and utilizes the specific concepts of triggering mechanisms which refer to the enabling circumstances that make the radicalization and departure possible and pleasure in agency to elaborate on individual motivation. The book also shows how a wider state fragility within the context of the post Yugoslav wars and the transitional period that never ended aided radicalization and how an incomplete process of post war transition can fuel the process of political and religious radicalization creating a wider enabling web for recruitment. It will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast European politics and foreign policy, post war democratic transition, security policy and radicalization more broadly.
