Updating the UN Guidelines for Consumer Protection for the Digital Age

Jeremy Malcolm, 2013-06-01 The United Nations Guidelines for Consumer Protection are an influential declaration of best practices in consumer protection law and policy But as they were last amended in 1999 they are now overdue for an update not least in areas where advances in technology have affected consumers such as access to knowledge Internet and telecommunications services e commerce and digital products and services Consumers International CI as the global campaigning voice for consumers is well placed to make recommendations about what amendments should be made to address these new and emerging areas of consumer rights This publication which is a companion volume to a broader set of amendments developed by CI explains our reasoning behind those proposed amendments that particularly affect consumers in the digital age A focus of this volume and of the Guidelines themselves is on how effective consumer laws and policies can benefit consumers in developing and emerging economies As such in depth analysis is provided of how the proposed amendments relate to consumers in India Brazil and South Africa either by reflecting existing best practices in those countries or by shining light on problem areas that the proposed amendments could help address
