Making Connections Kay Kovalevs, Pearson Education Australia Staff, Alison Dewsbury, Fiona Maplestone, 2006-08-01

Theological Dictionary of Rabbinic Judaism: Making connections and building constructions Jacob Neusner, 2005. Rabbinic theological language has made possible a vast range of discourse on many subjects over long spans of recorded time and in diverse cultural settings. This theological dictionary defines the principal theological usages of Rabbinic Judaism as set forth in the Rabbinic canon of late antiquity: Mishnah, Talmuds and Midrash compilations. It systematically lays out 1. the theological categories that are native to those writings; 2. cogent statements that can be made with them; 3. coherent propositions that those statements set forth and within their own terms and framework logically demonstrate as true and self-evident. Both Volume One of this dictionary covers vocabulary that permits the classification of religious knowledge and experience and the organization and categorization of those data into intelligible and cogent sense units. Volume Two shows how these classifications combine and recombine in sentences. We may deem these rules of theological discourse concerning religious experience to be the counterpart of syntax, which words combine or do not combine with which other words in what inflection or signaled relationship and why. Volume Three shows how the theology accomplishes its goals of analysis, explanation and anticipation in order to make sense of and impose meaning upon a subject. That marks the point at which constructive theology commences and systematic theology will find its language.
