Hope Shared Melissa R. Plank CPSS,2023-12-13 By sharing my lived experiences and formal education I desire to help others achieve recovery throughout the individual s process of gaining control over their own life and the direction they want it to go The Hope Train Laura Rabb Morgan EdD,2022-01-15 Even though I can t hear the trains every day like I did when I was growing up I still live across the train tracks When I was growing up you had to cross the train tracks to get to my house and even now in my twilight years you have to cross the train tracks to get to my house However I never thought of living across the tracks as a negative thing like it is in the movies I am sure it is because negativity was not a part of my life growing up We were never harshly beaten or yelled at for the littlest thing like some children We realized we were poor but that didn t define us because we were surrounded by love in our own home and in our community We lived in a church community dedicated to educating children and working hard No we weren t overly praised either We didn t get anything for good grades or for our birthdays Yes we were hungry sometimes but we never starved because we trusted our parents to provide for us and they always did Simple peanut butter and cracker sandwiches could make eight little children on Crichton Hill in Minden Louisiana smile as if they didn t have a care in the world because to them they didn t What we always had was hope It was this realization that gave me the impetus to call my memoir The Hope Train Hope because of all the prayers my mom sent to heaven on her kids behalf and the trains that passed by each day and even provided passage for me as I was the first in my family to go to college and the seven other Rabb children would board the train also Hope Deferred Sarah

Munson,2014-07-24 The First World War has survived as part of our national memory in a way no previous war has ever done This collection of letters which lay untouched for almost ninety years allows a unique glimpse into the war as experienced by one family at the time transporting us back to an era which is now slipping tantalizingly out of living memory The Slaters the family at the heart of these letters lived in Oxford Like most families they were both typical and unique Gilbert the father of the family had been head of Ruskin College in Oxford and during the war found work as the first Professor of Indian Economics in Madras His wife Violet grew to detest the war and became an increasingly vocal pacifist as the slaughter continued Owen their eldest son a schoolboy in 1914 was fighting in France by war s end In the letters they wrote to each other and their friends at this time we see how the war increasingly impacted upon each of their lives and the life of the world around them rationing Violet s increasing involvement in radical politics the deaths of friends the fear of Zeppelin raids when in London the endless discussions between Violet and Gilbert about how to keep their son out of the trenches and the growth of Owen from schoolboy to soldier serving as a junior officer on the Western Front Above all in their privacy and immediacy their inconsistencies and false hopes these letters bring us as near as we can ever be to understanding what people thought feared and hoped for during these momentous years A Hope in the Unseen Ron Suskind,1999-05-04 The inspiring true coming of age story of a ferociously determined young man who armed only with his intellect and his willpower fights his way out of despair In 1993 Cedric Jennings was a bright and ferociously determined honor student at Ballou a high school in one of Washington D C s most dangerous neighborhoods where the dropout rate was well into double digits and just 80 students out of more than 1 350 boasted an average of B or better At Ballou Cedric had almost no friends He ate lunch in a classroom most days plowing through the extra work he asked for knowing that he was really competing with kids from other harder schools Cedric Jennings s driving ambition which was fully supported by his forceful mother was to attend a top college In September 1995 after years of near superhuman dedication he realized that ambition when he began as a freshman at Brown University But he didn t leave his struggles behind He found himself unprepared for college he struggled to master classwork and fit in with the white upper class students Having traveled too far to turn back Cedric was left to rely on his intelligence and his determination to maintain hope in the unseen a future of acceptance and reward In this updated edition A Hope in the Unseen chronicles Cedric s odyssey during his last two years of high school follows him through his difficult first year at Brown and tells the story of his subsequent successes in college and the world of work Eye opening sometimes humorous and often deeply moving A Hope in the Unseen weaves a crucial new thread into the rich and ongoing narrative of the American experience

Cynicism and Hope Meg E.

Cox, 2009-01-01 On the morning after they walked for miles through freezing rain to a prayer vigil outside the White House in March 2007 a group of young war protesters listened to one last speech before heading home to Chicago Peter Dula who had served with the Mennonite Central Committee in Iraq spoke honestly about the caustic combination of guilt and disempowerment the protesters were struggling with He commended protesting and suggested resisting war taxes then made two surprising final recommendations ride a bike and plant a garden Electrified by Dula s speech the group wanted to talk more about their disillusionment and to learn from their elders in activism and the church So in November 2007 they hosted a conference at Reba Place Church in Evanston Illinois where over two hundred people gathered to learn worship and contemplate a more hopeful way This volume is a collection of the major addresses from that conference The contributors suggest a new way to live in the tension between hope that things will improve and cynicism about whether they ever will While creating space for lament they point toward a radical Christian faithfulness in neighborhoods and congregations that can be both hopeful and profoundly political
