

A romantic scene of a man and a woman in a red dress. The woman is wearing a vibrant red, off-the-shoulder gown and is looking down with a soft expression. The man is leaning in, his face partially visible as he looks at her. The background is a deep red, textured surface, possibly a curtain or a wall, which adds to the intimate and sensual atmosphere of the image.

Matchmakers The Matchmaker Series English Edition:

Matchmaking From Fun to Profit Matchmaking Institute,2007-10-17 You've successfully set up your friends with their perfect partners and have become the go-to person when pals need a new relationship. That may just seem like a fun way to help those you love, but it might be a great career opportunity too. Don't just play matchmaker; really become one. It's simple with this professional course created by the authorities at the Matchmaking Institute. Here are proven techniques for signing clients, interviewing effectively, getting publicity, and more. The guide walks you through the basics of starting a business and even provides answers to commonly asked questions. So don't wait until the next time someone says "You should do this for a living." The time to make a move is now.

Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France Andrea Mansker,2024-12-15 Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France uncovers the unexplored history of matrimonial agents, their novel marketing tactics, and the rise of personal advertisements to track the commercialization of marriage in nineteenth-century France. Brokers transformed courtship and marriage into forms of commercial exchange, linking them to the burgeoning urban values of abundance, pleasure, and social mobility. By studying agents and readers' media fictions on love, alongside court cases, legislation, and literature surrounding the industry, Andrea Mansker reveals the intimate and socioeconomic pressures of finding a spouse. At the same time, she demonstrates how contemporaries used the business of matrimony to reimagine their public identities, relationships, and courtship rituals following unprecedented historical change due to the French Revolution and Napoleonic wars. The matchmaking business both responded to and helped shape national anxieties over fluctuating nuptial rates and changing laws on marriage and divorce. As a result, marriage itself was reconceived as a commercial contract inseparable from the atomistic and corrupt marketplace. The debates and pressures Mansker describes in Matchmaking and the Marriage Market in Postrevolutionary France are still relevant today. As contemporary online daters likely understand, the possibility of finding a mate in an expanded pool of candidates beyond one's family locality and nation offered individuals the liberating opportunity to explore new personas, just as it produced a novel sense of danger about these impersonal transactions in the anonymous marketplace.

Matchmaking in Electronic Markets Daniel Veit,2003-12-03 Electronic negotiations concern transactions on the basis of electronic media, such as the Internet. Platforms have been developed to aid participants in electronic markets during the agreement phase. The key activity in this is the matching of offers and requests, for which we need a ranking of the alternatives. In this book, the author defines a framework in which a ranking can be generated in order to acquire an optimal decision for a desired transaction; this process is called matchmaking. The author introduces a generic framework for multidimensional multiattribute matchmaking, its implementation, and an analysis of it. The genericity of the author's approach means that the implementation realized as a multiagent system can represent both offering and requesting agents, and the framework can be applied to a huge variety of applications. The use cases in the book are derived from the human resources domain and thus involve quite complex matchmaking The author s presentation is thorough and self contained He provides definitions of the relevant business and computer science terms and detailed explanations of the underlying mathematical tools and software implementations Matchmaking in the Archive E.G. Crichton,2023-02-10 Though today s LGBTQ people owe a lot to the generations who came before them their historical inheritances are not always obvious Working with the archives of the Gay Lesbian Bisexual Transgender Historical Society artist E G Crichton decided to do something to bridge this generation gap She selected 19 innovative LGBTQ artists writers and musicians then paired each of them with a deceased person whose personal artifacts are part of the archive Including 25 pages of vivid images Matchmaking in the Archive documents this monumental creative project and adds essays by Jonathan D Katz Michelle Tea and Chris Vargas who describe their own unique encounters with the ghosts of LGBTQ history Together they make the archive come alive in remarkably intimate ways
