Vaishnav,2024-02-27 In recent years India has asserted its desire not simply to be a balancing power but to become a leading power on the world stage As India s economic development has steadily progressed so too have its foreign policy and security ambitions However India s ability to sustain high rates of economic growth at home and project power overseas rests on unsteady state capacities Despite widespread concerns over the severe institutional constraints that India faces there is a lack of scholarly research on the administrative and organizational effectiveness of India s security institutions Myriad inadequacies related to both procedure and personnel continue to hamper the Indian state s ability to perform one of its most essential functions protecting Indians from security threats at home and abroad Institutional Roots of India s Security Policy aims to deconstruct and interrogate disparities in India s security institutions through high quality analytic examinations of more than a dozen foreign policy and national security institutions spread across four domains the armed services intelligence border and internal security and police and investigative agencies A one stop resource on India s security institutions this volume demystifies secretive institutions that have long eluded careful scrutiny including India s paramilitary forces the Intelligence Bureau IB the Research and Analysis Wing RAW and the Central Bureau of Investigation CBI

Protest in South Africa Heidi Brooks,Rekgotsofetse Chikane,2024-01-23 Popular protest has become a regular feature of post 1994 South Africa As a young democracy born out of resistance we may understand the contemporary manifestations of protest as extensions of this broader history However it is notably in the context of formal democratic institutions that popular protest has become an increasingly normalised mode of influencing policy demanding service delivery and forcing change. Protest is constitutive of South Africa's democratic politics but also reflective of it. Protest in South Africa: Rejection, reassertion, reclamation explores the underpinnings of contemporary protest and both its short-term causes and structural drivers. Focusing on the surge of protest from the mid-2000s, this edited volume provides an overview of the complexity of protest action, the diversity of protest spaces and actors, and responses to protest from both citizens and state. The volume situates its analysis against the backdrop of the global wave of protest witnessed since the turn of the 21st century while examining protest in South Africa's local and historical contexts. Contributors to the volume examine protests in relation to, among other factors, provision of infrastructure and services, contestations around socio-economic development issues of citizenship and demands for inclusive democratic governance. Chapters also examine the role of women in protest action, the policing of protest, and the intersection of protest action with spaces of formal politics. The volume also alerts us to the darker side of protest and the destruction and division it may foment. It thus considers the prospects of South Africa's evolving, sometimes violent, protest terrain for social and state stability and democratic progress. In the diversity of spaces, sectors, and communities of interests in which collective action has emerged, Protest in South Africa: Rejection, reassertion, reclamation shows how protest is underpinned by a rejection of the status quo, a reassertion of interests, and a reclaiming of the political and democratic space.

Critiquing Evidence-Based Policing in Britain Paul Betts, 2024-07-03. Evidence-Based Policing (EBP) exerts significant influence on how actors think, act, and speak about UK policing to the point that it is becoming institutionalised. Inspired by the insights of Michel Foucault into power, knowledge, governmentality, and institutional reform over time, this book provides a comprehensive account of the emergence of EBP in Britain, as well as original discourse analysis and analytical research into the texts produced by EBP. It presents a new history of EBP, presented around EBP's story lines, subject positions, and the institutional changes it has created. This history shows EBP shares a genealogical heritage with modern discourses of managerialism and neoliberalism. EBP's roots are traced, and it is re-presented as an extension of the problematic relationship in the production of criminological knowledge and the British state. This history fundamentally challenges the notion on which EBP rests, basing policing policy upon independent, robust knowledge. Instead, this book argues EBP should be subject to greater illumination and challenge, suggesting EBP is a contestable device that is doing political work. It speaks to those interested in policing, critical criminology, and political science.

Women in Policing around the World Venessa Garcia, 2021-03-24. Women in Policing around the World is a historical, legal, political, and social examination of women in policing. The book opens with a comparison of cultural definitions of gender and how this affects women's work in general and policing specifically. The book then takes the reader through women in policing in the Eastern and Western Hemispheres, featuring several countries within the major regions of the world. Major commonalities and differences are identified in the areas of recruitment, training, deployment, promotion, and violence against women. Among the key features of this book is a balanced coverage of historical and timely events that led to the current status of women police in their respective countries The book identifies the commonalities that women police experience throughout the world relying on the most current research The book also dedicates coverage of policing violence against women in society as well as within the police organization itself The author includes tables to allow for national comparisons throughout the book as well as current and historical photos This book is intended for researchers and students of police culture and women in policing It does not rely heavily on one country or region thus allowing for an enlightening international comparison
