Greenhouse Effect The greenhouse effect is the process by which the atmosphere of a planet traps heat from the sun. The sun's rays enter the atmosphere and hit the ground. The ground then radiates heat back into the atmosphere, which traps the heat and warms the planet. The greenhouse effect is a natural process that occurs on all planets with an atmosphere. It is the reason why Earth is warm enough to support life. Without the greenhouse effect, Earth would be too cold to support life. The greenhouse effect is caused by greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. These gases trap heat from the sun and prevent it from escaping the planet.
