Modulating Gene Expression Aditi Singh, Mohammad W. Khan, 2019-05-29 RNA interference (RNAi) is a widely used technology for gene silencing and has become a key tool in a myriad of research and lead discoveries. In recent years the mechanism of RNAi agents has been well investigated and the technique has been optimized for better effectiveness and safety. On the other hand, the clustered regularly interspaced short palindromic repeats (CRISPR) associated Cas9/gRNA system is a recent novel targeted genome editing technique derived from the bacterial immune system. Recent advances in gene editing research and technologies have enabled the CRISPR/Cas9 system to become a popular tool for sequence specific gene editing to correct and modify eukaryotic systems. In this book we will focus on the mechanisms, applications, regulations, their pros and cons, and various ways in which RNAi based methods and CRISPR/Cas9 technology have stimulated the modulation of gene expression, thereby making them a promising therapeutic tool to treat and prevent complex diseases and disorders.

Building Age, 1926 Manual Training and Vocational Education, 1899 Strengthening Rural Livelihoods David J. Grimshaw, Shalini Kala, 2011 Enthusiasm amongst international development agencies about harnessing the potential of information and communications technologies (ICTs) for development has generated questioning of the impact and sustainability of such interventions. By presenting the findings of research specifically designed to measure impact on livelihoods, Strengthening Rural Livelihoods offers new evidence for the development benefits of ICTs. The book asks if ICTs enabled farmers to sell beyond local markets and at better prices and whether there have been social gains in linking geographically disparate households and social networks. The authors have provided significant new insights into how to overcome the challenges of mainstreaming ICTs into rural livelihoods and more effectively measuring its effects. This book will appeal to academics civil society organizations practitioners and students who are interested in what works and what doesn't work when applying ICTs to rural livelihoods The ARRL Operating Manual for Radio Amateurs Mark J.
