Le Boucher Des Hurlus:

The Pleasures of Crime David Platten, 2011-12 For 150 years the French public and literati have enjoyed a love affair with crime fiction This book investigates the nature of this relationship and how through periods of dramatic social and political change in France it has flourished It challenges the conventional view of a popular genre feeding a niche market depicting crime fiction instead as a field of creative endeavour which has gradually matured into one of considerable literary fertility By inviting us to share secrets and crack codes creating suspense and at times not shirking from presenting horrific events in graphic language the crime story brings into play the intellect and emotions of its readership This book explores both this intrinsic literary value of the crime novel and its extrinsic witness to historical events and cultural trends arguing that these apparently distinct aspects are in fact dynamic interrelated parts of the same whole This blend of cultural history with literary analysis allows for the discussion of themes such as politics memory the urban environment and youth cultures mixed with case studies of major French crime writers including Gaston Leroux Georges Simenon Jean Patrick Manchette Daniel Pennac and Fred Vargas

the French roman noir while making sure to also focus on his surrealist roots Against the archetypes of Simenon's Maigret and Christie's Poirot Burma is brash and streetwise peppering his speech with colorful and evocative slang As the reader's tour guide Burma highlights Paris's forgotten past while providing insight to the Paris of his present referencing both popular culture and contemporary issues Malet's innovation of setting a noir narrative in France serves as a catalyst for further change in the policier genre in France including his contemporary Jean Amila the n o polar of Jean Patrick Manchette and the historical roman noir of Didier Daeninckx

French Prose in 2000, 2021-10-18 French Prose in 2000 stems in some important measure from work presented in September 1998 at the International Colloquium on French and Francophone Literature in the 1990's held at Dalhousie University A good number of papers given at that time and since revisited in the light of exchanges join here certain others specifically written for the purposes of this book Together they constitute a wide ranging and modally varied interrogation of the current state of French and francophone prose writing its multifaceted manners its richly divergent fascinations its many theoretical or philosophical groundings The book thus ceaselessly moves its attention from fictional biography to the roman noir from the writing of Glissant and Chamoiseau to that of the tonnants voyageurs from the powerful discourse of women such as Chawaf or Cond Ernaux or Germain Sallenave or Kristeva to that of writers as diverse in their modes as Le Clzio and Quignard Duras and Renaud Camus All chapters focus however in near exclusive measure on the prose production of the last ten or twelve years
