Parler des camps penser les génocides Collectif, 2015-05-01

Comment parler des camps Peut-on penser les génocides aujourd'hui L'institution des devoirs de mémoire cache une culture politique qui dénie ou hiérarchise les souffrances pendant que se succèdent de nouveaux crimes de masse Mais quelle place ces destructions laissent-elles à l'imagination de l'humain ?

Le réalisme montre sa déroute Peuvent-elles s'inscrire dans la culture sans nouvelle barbarie et faire l'objet d'une vivante transmission Pour tenter de répondre ces questions trente-trois chercheurs aussi différents que Janine Altounian Omer Bartov Jean Bollack Alain Brossat Muhamedin Kullashi Véronique Nahoum Grappe Myriam Revault d'Allonnes Tzvetan Todorov Enzo Traverso Irving Wohlfarth se sont prêtés à un échange intercommunautaire et transdisciplinaire lors d'un colloque qui s'est tenu à la Sorbonne en mai 1997

The International Legal System in Quest of Equity and Universality Laurence Boisson de Chazournes, Vera Gowlland-Debbas, 2021-10-18

Georges Abi Saab began his writing and teaching at a time when the process of decolonization and thereafter the quest for emancipation began to make its far-reaching impact on the international scene producing significant changes in the international environment both quantitatively in increasing the number of nation States and qualitatively in changing patterns of interests and claims This was bound to result in new pressures on the international legal system itself and in a questioning of the traditional Eurocentric content of international law In his work and teaching Professor Abi Saab viewed the dynamics of international law as a function of two driving forces the emergence of the third world and the sense of injustice In his view the first driving force the emergence of the third world raised the problem of exclusion exclusion from participation in the elaboration of international law and the decision making process and exclusion as beneficiaries of the resulting rules of international law At the same time this new force introduced diversity into the international scene reflecting the richness of the international community in its different facets This process remains relevant today reflecting the contemporary problem of exclusion of new actors as well as their quest for participation The second

driving force the sense of injustice posed a teleological problem for him that of defining community values in order that they capture the different facets of justice whether formal or distributive So long as there is no effective organic structure international law in his view will continue to remain effectiveness oriented reflecting rather than impacting on the structures of power Nevertheless it is undeniable that there is an on going process of development of community values and interests as Georges Abi Saab wrote with reference to international crimes law like all social phenomena is a continuous unfolding a continuous process of elaboration He has also considered that the dynamics of the international legal process itself can be captured from the perspective of international organizations as vehicles for change in the international system From his early writings Georges Abi Saab approached the United Nations Charter as a blueprint both normative and institutional for a certain type of international society International institutions with all their imperfections continue for him to be the means of realization of the law of cooperation which lies at the heart of his concept of the international system The themes selected for this volume in honour of Professor Georges Abi Saab are intended to reflect his unique and pioneering contribution to the field of international law The contributors are drawn from what he has always considered to be his large family of former students in his forty years of teaching Georges Abi Saab has acted as mentor to generations of students from all over the world who have benefited from his vision insights originality and creative and stimulating use of language The contributors also include colleagues and friends who share a similar vision of the international legal system

Bluebeard Jacques Offenbach, 1868 Quand la folie parle Gillian Ni Cheallaigh, Laura Jackson, Siobhan McIlvanney, 2014-06-26 Quand la folie parle presents a timely reinvigoration of the complex subject of madness and its literary manifestations This stimulating study authored by a range of young and talented international scholars is of key importance in defining and refining our ongoing endeavours to theorise and analyse the literary representations of the problematics of mental health By including discussions of texts that speak of madness as well as those that speak from madness this volume demonstrates that in fact the non sense of madness achieves a force of expression often more powerful than the usual order of logic Embracing the scientific the religious the medical the psychoanalytic the historical the erotic and of course the properly literary this wide ranging historically informed collection is particularly significant in its exploration of both the madwoman and the madman and exhibits an inclusiveness which extends to the genres and modes of the texts examined The authors discussed from Nerval and Houellebecq to NDiaye and L provide a refreshingly balanced picture of mental illness presenting madness or depression as a contestatory creative stance against often mind numbing social racial or consumerist conventions while refusing to play down the inevitable difficulties accompanying this isolating condition The dialectic effect referenced in the title of the collection extends not only to the dynamics at work within the volume itself as the different contributions implicitly dialogue with one another but equally to the reader of these essays who is engaged throughout in the debates put forward tudes juridiques des Facultés universitaires Saint Louis a suscité la collaboration de juristes et de spécialistes des sciences humaines histoire économie sociologie psychologie science administrative philosophie afin d'éclaircir les rapports multiples entre les notions de droit et d'intérêt. Ce thème s'est révélé si fécond qu'il est apparu nécessaire de publier les résultats de ces travaux dans trois volumes distincts. Le présent volume est centré sur l'analyse du concept d'intérêt dans différentes branches du droit : droit des personnes, droit des mineurs, droit pénal et procédure pénale, droit administratif, droit constitutionnel, droit de l'environnement, droit du travail, droit d'auteur et droit international. Il comporte également une dimension importante de droit comparé en abordant certains aspects de ce thème dans le cadre des droits français, anglais, italien, américain ainsi que des différents pays membres de la communauté européenne et des pays socialistes. Enfin, plusieurs contributions étudient le sujet dans une perspective historique.

Nouvelles observations sur les doctrines dites Gallicanes et sur les doctrines dites Ultramontaines, 1852 Hague Yearbook of International Law: Vol. 10:1997 A. C. Kiss, Johan G. Lammers, 1998-07-01

Academics and practitioners alike turn to the renowned Hague Yearbook of International Law for broad coverage of key topical matters in the field. This volume contains Congress papers and in-depth articles in English and French covering developments in private international law, international humanitarian law and international environmental law. It also includes summaries of key aspects of decisions rendered by various international law institutions such as the International Court of Justice, the Permanent Court of Arbitration and the Iran-United States Claims Tribunal. The total effect of the various papers contained within this single resource is coverage of a broad range of current important topics in the field. The reporting on the decisions of numerous tribunals and on matters before them enables readers to keep abreast of developments from a variety of sources that have the potential to change or have changed the state of the law and its practice. Topics covered in this issue include technological development and the development of the law of outer spaces, recent marine archaeology, developments in international law and international protection of children within the framework of human rights.
