Possible answers

A challenge is something that is difficult to do but that you need or want to do. A challenge may refer to an act in the future or to something you have already done.

It will be a real challenge for me to run a marathon in under four hours.

An achievement is something difficult or exceptional that you manage to do. Einstein's achievements in the field of physics are incredible.

Possible answers

- 2 ordeal – an extremely unpleasant experience, especially one that lasts for a long time
- 3 obstacle – a difficulty or problem that prevents progress or success
- 4 exploit – something unusual, brave or entertaining that someone does

1 feat = accomplishment

Feat and accomplishment are very similar in meaning and can often be used interchangeably. However, we tend to use feat only to refer to one single act that is really exceptional or extremely difficult: The Eiffel Tower is a remarkable feat of engineering.

2 ordeal = trial

An ordeal is a very unpleasant experience in general.

Going to the dentist's is always an ordeal for me.

A trial is an unpleasant or difficult experience that tests you in some way (your patience, your stamina, etc.)

It's a real trial going on holiday with Mark. He never stops talking!

3 obstacle = hurdle

There is very little difference between these two words. An obstacle is something that blocks progress. A hurdle is something that needs to be overcome in order to progress.

What's the biggest obstacle to your happiness?

Prejudice in the workplace is still a hurdle that many women have to overcome.

4 exploit = adventure

An exploit is a brave, impressive, or entertaining act.

Her amazing exploits include walking across Antarctica.

An adventure is an exciting, and possibly dangerous, experience, journey or event.

I decided I was ready for an adventure after college.

5 battle = struggle

Both battle and struggle describe a situation in which someone is trying very hard to deal with something difficult. However, we usually use battle only when we are fighting against something that is hurting or destroying us.

She has lost her battle against breast cancer.

I finally passed the exam but it was a real struggle.

1 obstacle – it can prevent success in life.

2 ordeal – it would be an unpleasant experience.

3 accomplishment – it would be something you are proud of.

4 hurdle – it will be a difficulty I have to overcome.

5 adventure – they see leaving home as something new and exciting.
