

Football after School
(to Kerry)

You'll be one of them in a few years, warpaint slicked over your face – your common language jeers, dribbling the sun about the place with the premature swagger of manhood, butting it with your head: your school tie a stiff striped dagger.

Yes, soon you'll be picking scabs of kisses off your skin as each kick makes you dwarf a tree, and stab a flower; the unset homework between the margins of this makeshift pitch teaching you more than a textbook how to survive any monster's switch.

Yet as I look at your porcelain skin their granite jowls, I wonder if you'll ever know how to dodge bruises on your shins from studded boots, be clever enough to tackle fouls with something more than inkstained fists and feet. Perhaps you'll be too vulnerable for living – not hooligan enough to trample into the sod your shadow that grows twice as fast as yourself, to sample punches below the belt from on you know without flinching. I can't prevent crossbones on your knees turn bullies into cement – or confiscate the sun they'll puncture and put out.

In their robust world I'm no Amazon.
I can only scream inside without a shout for you not to inherit my fragility: never to love too much or to be aged as I was by youth's anxiety.
