1919-1939 Andrew Field,2004-05-20 Between the ending of the Great War and the start of the Second World War in 1939 the Royal Navy remained the largest in the world But with the League of Nations seeming to offer a solution to all future conflicts a country weary of war and without an obvious enemy there seemed no need for a large battlefleet The strategic focus shifted eastwards to Japan with its growing battlefleet as the new threat to the British Empire and to the Royal Navy s supremacy From 1924 a strategic plan War Memorandum Eastern was written and refined The plan called for the Royal Navy still the largest in the world even after the Washington Naval Treaties to move eastwards to a defended base at Singapore cut off Japan and force her battlefleet into a decisive fleet battle As a strategy War Memorandum Eastern had many flaws Its real importance lay in the fact that it provided a justification for the Royal Navy to maintain its leading position in the world and to be in the forefront of the development of new tactical thinking Through planning for a war with Japan the Royal Navy was able to test its readiness for a future war Many of the lessons learnt during this period were ultimately put to good use against a different foe in 1939      The Bulgarian-Byzantine Wars for Early Medieval Balkan Hegemony Dennis P. Hupchick,2017-07-10 This book provides an interpretive narrative of the wars fought by Bulgaria against the Byzantine Empire for dominant control of the Balkan Peninsula during the early medieval era Over a span of two centuries from the early ninth through the early eleventh and under the leadership of the Bulgarian rulers Krum Simeon I and Samuil those conflicts evolved from simple confrontations for territorial possession into a life or death struggle for imperial precedence within the Orthodox world then emerging in Eastern Europe a struggle that the Bulgarians ultimately lost The primary focus is on Bulgaria rather than Byzantium and an effort is made to provide a historically reliable chronology of the assorted campaigns The various belligerents military organizations defensive technologies armaments and tactics are surveyed in an introduction to the main narrative A prelude chapter sets the stage for the hegemonic conflict which was divided into three distinct phases by interludes of relative peace between the contending parties during which Bulgaria s domestic foreign and cultural developments shaped the nature and conduct of the fighting in each successive phase      Journal of the Royal United Service Institution, Whitehall Yard ,1869      The War of the Rebellion ,1891      House documents ,1889
