The Nature of Data Jenny Goldstein, Eric

Nost, 2022-10 When we look at some of the most pressing issues in environmental politics today it is hard to avoid data technologies Big data artificial intelligence and data dashboards all promise revolutionary advances in the speed and scale at which governments corporations conservationists and even individuals can respond to environmental challenges By bringing together scholars from geography anthropology science and technology studies and ecology The Nature of Data explores how the digital realm is a significant site in which environmental politics are waged This collection as a whole makes the argument that we cannot fully understand the current conjuncture in critical global environmental politics without understanding the role of data platforms devices standards and institutions In particular The Nature of Data addresses the contested practices of making and maintaining data infrastructure the imaginaries produced by data infrastructures the relations between state and civil society that data infrastructure reworks and the conditions under which technology can further socio ecological justice instead of re entrenching state and capitalist power This innovative volume presents some of the first research in this new but rapidly growing subfield that addresses the role of data infrastructures in critical environmental politics

Militarised Responses to Transnational Organised Crime Tuesday Reitano, Sasha

Jespersion, Lucia Bird Ruiz-Benitez de Lugo, 2017-10-06 This edited volume examines the use of militarised responses to different forms of criminal activity discussing the outcomes and unintended consequences Politicians and policymakers frequently use militarised responses to look tough on crime The deployment of armies navies military assets and militarised approaches can send a powerful message but have produced mixed results While they generate the perception that governments are actively engaged on issues of concern to the public and in some cases have resulted in notable successes on the downside they have frequently also increased the loss of life exacerbated the humanitarian consequences of a particular crime and entrenched divides between security and state institutions and the criminal proponents narrowing the possibilities for future negotiated solutions By focusing on four different areas of criminality wildlife crime piracy migration and drug trafficking the book allows context and evidence based conclusions to be drawn on the strategic value and commonality of responses and their outcomes

Globalisation and Services-driven Economic Growth Niels Beerepoot, Bart

Lambregts, Jana Kleibert, 2016-07-28 Following drastic shifts in the spatial organization of goods production increasingly fierce competition now forces firms also to look critically at how to organize the production of services While digitization and advances in information and communication technologies have enabled firms to unbundle service production processes the increased global availability of skilled labour allows for the relocation of ever more of these processes around the world As a result a new geography of services production takes shape a geography that is defined by new interregional and international divisions of labour and held together by increasingly complex global services production networks This book examines how the reorganisation of services production alters relations between and generates different sets of challenges and opportunities for economic development in the Global North and the Global South Drawing from 11 case studies probing various aspects of services production in different parts of the world the book brings out the remarkable heterogeneity and transformative capacities of services It successively shows how global trade in services creates new interdependencies between services producing and services consuming regions reveals how services help to mitigate the impact of and contribute to recovery from economic crises in the Global North and demonstrates how services offshoring fosters economic development and service sector driven modernisation processes in the Global South The book s openness to the heterogeneous and dynamic nature of services production enlarges our understanding of which particular services in which spatiotemporal context have the capacity to generate good jobs contribute to productivity and drive economic growth The book stands out from other books in the field in that it combines perspectives on services driven transformations from both the Global North and the Global South and looks into the role of various services segments Based on pioneering empirical research and original data it offers a timely contribution to this growing debate The book provides valuable insights for students scholars and professionals interested in services services offshoring services driven growth and socioeconomic transformations in the Global North and South     A Cold Colonialism Tina Adcock,2025-06-01 Exploration has long been pivotal to southern engagements with northern Canada but it is most often associated with the nineteenth century or earlier A Cold Colonialism offers the first extended examination of twentieth century exploration in the Canadian North Modern exploration helped southerners establish and maintain distinctive kinds of colonial and settler colonial power over northern Indigenous homelands Who explored the North between 1918 and 1965 What forms did exploration take What did it mean to explorers and others affected by it Tina Adcock focuses on four representative explorers with richly documented careers mining engineer George Douglas surveyor Guy Blanchet ethnologist Vilhjalmur Stefansson and filmmaker Richard Finnie Despite limited experience in and knowledge of the Canadian North these explorers helped southern militaries industries and governments exert control over northern peoples and their lands Each also claimed belonging in and authority over the North in ways that still resonate among southern settlers in Canada today     Memory and Landscape Kenneth L. Pratt ,Scott A. Heyes,2022-10-18 The North is changing at an unprecedented rate as industrial development and the climate crisis disrupt not only the environment but also long standing relationships to the land and traditional means of livelihood Memory and Landscape Indigenous Responses to a Changing North explores the ways in which Indigenous peoples in the Arctic have adapted to challenging circumstances including past cultural and environmental changes In this beautifully illustrated volume contributors document how Indigenous communities in Alaska northern Canada Greenland and Siberia are seeking ways to maintain and strengthen their cultural identity while also embracing forces of disruption Indigenous and non Indigenous contributors bring together oral history and scholarly research from disciplines such as linguistics archaeology and ethnohistory With an emphasis on Indigenous place names this volume illuminates how the land and the memories that are inextricably tied to it continue to define Indigenous identity The perspectives presented here also serve to underscore the value of Indigenous knowledge and its essential place in future studies of the Arctic Contributions by Vinnie Baron Hugh Brody Kenneth Buck Anna Bunce Donald Butler Michael A Chenlov Aron L Crowell Peter C Dawson Martha Dowsley Robert Drozda Gary Holton Colleen Hughes Peter Jacobs Emily Kearney Williams Igor Krupnik Apayo Moore Murielle Nagy Mark Nuttall Evon Peter Louann Rank William E Simeone Felix St Aubin and Will Stolz      Novel Methods for Monitoring and Managing Land and Water Resources in Siberia Lothar Mueller, Askhad K. Sheudshen, Frank Eulenstein, 2015-11-15 This book presents an analysis of land and water resources in Siberia initially characterizing the landscapes their ecosystems crucial processes human impacts on soil and water quality and the status quo of available research Further chapters deal with modern monitoring and management methods that can lead to a significant knowledge shift and initiate sustainable soil and water resources use These include soil hydrological laboratory measurement methods process based field evaluation methods for land and water quality remote sensing and GIS technology based landscape monitoring methods process and ecosystem modeling approaches methods of resource and process evaluation and functional soil mapping and tools for controlling agricultural land use systems More than 15 of these concrete monitoring and management tools can immediately be incorporated into research and practice Maintaining the functions of great landscapes for future generations will be the reward for these efforts      Chinese Economic Diplomacy Shuxiu Zhang, 2016-07-01 Economic diplomacy was declared in 2013 by Beijing as a priority in its comprehensive strategy for diplomacy The political elite undertook to further invest in economic diplomacy as an instrument for economic growth and development Globally Chinese cooperation in multilateral economic processes has become critical to achieving meaningful outcomes However little understanding exists in current literature on the factors and mechanisms which shape the processes behind China s economic diplomacy decision making Chinese Economic Diplomacy provides an understanding of the processes and practices of China s economic diplomacy with multilateral economic negotiations as the primary basis of analysis specifically the UN climate change talks and the WTO Doha Round trade negotiations It examines how early economic diplomacy in global governance contributed to the varied and evolving nature of its present day decision making structures and processes Demonstrating how China s negotiation preferences are driven by networks of political actors in formal and informal domestic and systemic environments it also highlights the capacity of international negotiation practices to alter and re shape China s approach to multilateral economic negotiations As a consequence the book presents a framework for understanding China s economic diplomacy decision making processes that is systemically constructed by domestic and international agencies Offering a Chinese perspective of the notion of economic diplomacy this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese Economics International Relations and Political Economy      Governance of Security and Ignored Insecurities in Contemporary Europe Salvatore Palidda, 2016-04-14 This book explores changes in security governance in Europe from the 1990s focusing on some of the most important consequences the proliferation of ignored insecurities including the increase of oncological diseases environmental disasters shadow economies reproducing neo slavery and fiscal fraud and the general damage to the res publica What is the articulation of removal reclamation and consequently the implementation of devices and the establishing of prevention practices Why are the majority of victims and also the control agency professionals seemingly resigned to these ignored insecurities Following more than 20 years of research in the area the authors examine these questions and how the securitisation of society has been exacerbated They argue that the primary cause of the increase in ignored insecurities is the consequence of the neoliberal turn in security governance This book proposes an innovative approach to security governance not only through a serious analysis of the balance of the costs and benefits but also highlighting what is here termed ignored insecurities The authors propose a review of the problems showing that the governance of security is a crucial element of the contemporary political organisation of society The book ends with an innovative reflection on the Anthropocene debate and the COP21 summit which took place in Paris in December 2015 September 2019 Monthly Current Affairs with MCQs for Competitive Exams Disha Experts,2019-09-01

Spatialising Peace and Conflict Annika Bjorkdahl,Susanne Buckley-Zistel,2016-05-01 This volume brings to the fore the spatial dimension of specific places and sites and assesses how they condition and are conditioned by conflict and peace processes By marrying spatial theories with theories of peace and conflict the contributors propose a new research agenda to investigate where peace and conflict take place Food Geographies Pascale Joassart-Marcelli,2022-02-25 What is the significance of food in our everyday lives Food Geographies addresses this broad question by examining the social political and ecological connections that food weaves between people and places across the world and revealing the centrality of food in the human experience This interdisciplinary and systemic perspective provides readers with key concepts analytical tools and critical skills to better understand and address the many issues facing the contemporary food system including food insecurity environmental degradation climate change labor exploitation social inequality power imbalance in decision making and threats to health and well being It takes readers to places including modern plantations in Peru collective farms in Tanzania food halls in France home kitchens in Japan community gardens in Brazil pubs in England and animal feeding operations in America By raising important questions about the current system readers will explore ways to enact meaningful change to build better future food geographies by producing consuming and engaging with food differently Fables of the Law Daniela Carpi,Marett Leiboff,2016-10-24 The latest development concerning the metaphorical use of the fairy tale is the legal perspective The law had and has recourse to fairy tales in order to speak of the nomos and its subversion of the politically correct and of the various means that have been used to enforce the law Fairy tales are a fundamental tool to examine legal procedures and structures in their many failings and errors Therefore we have privileged the term fables of the law just to stress the ethical perspective they are moral parables that often speak of justice miscarried and justice sought Law and jurists are creators of fables on the view that law is born out of the facts ex facto ius oritur so that there is a need for narrative coherence both on the level of the case and the level of legislation or turned the other way around what does it mean if no such coherence is found This is especially of interest given the influx of all kinds of new technologies that are fabulous in themselves and hard to incorporate in traditional doctrinal schemes and thus in the construction of a new reality What About Us? Griffiths, 2019-11-21 This book provides an in depth study of the moral economies emerging from within conditions of precarity in rural communities in contemporary Myanmar James C Scott's seminal work on The Moral Economy of the Peasant argued that peasant notions of subsistence and expectations of reciprocity formed the basis for subsequent rebellion as economic conditions changed and new market forces were introduced Now nearly a century on Michael Griffiths argues that the conditions faced by rural communities in Myanmar remain precarious but different forms of moral economy shape their responses In the contemporary context the moral economy of rural communities is characterized by the emergence of localized self organized community welfare associations which adopt a sophisticated iteration of self help framed by the

Buddhist concept of parhita altruism This book analyses the performative nature of these welfare organizations as a form of politics asking how notions of citizenship expressed in these organizations promote more inclusive or more exclusive practices towards non Buddhist minorities At a time when discourse on identity in Myanmar has been dominated by practices of othering and exclusion this book provides an important analysis of what citizenship and reciprocity means in contemporary rural Myanmar This book is a critical resource for researchers working on rural development and the social sciences in Southeast Asia
