This book provides a detailed analysis of the institutional transformations brought about by the financial crisis, focusing on the institution-building course of Europe and the Constitution-bending course in several Member States. It discusses the seemingly contradictory interplay between national and European institutions and the law resulting from the crisis, arguing that the anti-crisis exceptionality constitutes the matrix of the new normality of the reformed European economic governance. The author carries out a critical analysis of the new economic governance and its case law with regular reference to relevant political episodes, key economic figures, and to the hitherto lax modes and rules The author also offers deep insights into the Greek adjustment programme and the crisis related Greek and Portuguese constitutional case law presented in comparison with the German and French case law The book concludes with a critical overview of the profound mutations in the role of national Constitutions instigated by the new European economic governance and the emergence of a democratically deficient meta constitutional mode of functioning of both the European institutions and national Constitutions

Regional Science Matters Peter Nijkamp, Adam Rose, Karima Kourtiti, 2014-11-20 This volume is a collection of fresh and novel contributions to regional science They commemorate the scientific inheritance of the founding father of regional science the late Walter Isard All papers are written by well known scholars in the field and serve to highlight the great importance of regional science theory and methodology for a better understanding of current spatial and environmental problems throughout our planet The book showcases a multidisciplinary panorama of modern regional science research and presents new insights by applying regional science approaches

The Search for Entrepreneurship Simon Bridge, 2016-12-08 Since the 1980s governments have often sought to encourage entrepreneurship on the assumption that it creates small businesses as the primary drivers of job creation As a result entrepreneurship has become a valid subject for academic research attracting extensive funding Despite this explosion of scholarship there is no accepted model of how entrepreneurship operates or even a commonly accepted definition of what it is Simon Bridge posits that this is because entrepreneurship has been studied based on the false assumption that it exists as a specific discrete identifiable phenomenon operating in accordance with consistent predictable rules So this misdirected search has produced more questions than answers Accepting that entrepreneurship as we have conceived it does not exist could lead to new and valuable insights into what the different forms of entrepreneurship are and how they might be influenced. Scholars, advanced students and policy makers will find this a thought provoking insight into the misconceptions of entrepreneurship.

Business Development and Economic Governance in Southeastern Europe Pantelis Sklias, Persefoni Polychronidou, Anastasios Karasavoglou, Victoria Pistikou, Nikolaos

Apostolopoulos, 2022-09-21 This book addresses contemporary and modern topics around business growth and economic development in Southeastern Europe. It covers a wide range of business issues focusing on the adoption of new technologies, finance of SMEs, place marketing, value co-creation, contribution to economic growth and internationalization. Moreover, it sheds new light on the micro and macroeconomic developments and monetary policy issues in the Eastern European and Balkan countries. This book is a useful tool for scholars in economics and finance interested in the further economic development of the Balkans and Eastern European countries as well as to professionals in the business, financial and insurance sectors.

Cambridge Economics in the Post-Keynesian Era Ashwani Saith, 2022-11-11 This book chronicles the rise and especially the demise of diverse revolutionary heterodox traditions in Cambridge theoretical and applied economics, investigating both the impact of internal pressures within the faculty as also the power of external ideological and political forces unleashed by the global dominance of neoliberalism. Using fresh archival materials, personal interviews and recollections, this meticulously researched narrative constructs the untold story of the eclipse of these heterodox and post-Keynesian intellectual traditions rooted and nurtured in Cambridge since the 1920s and the rise to power of orthodox mainstream economics. Also expunged in this neoclassical counter-revolution were the structural and radical policy-oriented macro-economic modelling teams of the iconic Department of Applied Economics along with the atrophy of sociology, development and economic history from teaching and research in the self-purifying faculty. This book will be of particular interest to researchers in the history of economic thought, sociology of knowledge, political economy, especially those engaged in heterodox and post-Keynesian economics and to everyone wishing to make economics fit for purpose again for negotiating the multiple economic, social and environmental crises rampant at national and global levels.

Forestry in the Midst of Global Changes Christine Farcy, Eduardo Rojas-Briales, Inazio Martinez de Arano, 2018-12-07 Forestry today like many other sectors that traditionally rely on material goods faces significant global drivers of societal change that are less often addressed than the environmental concerns commonly in the spotlight of scientific, political and news media. There are three major interconnected issues that are challenging forestry at its foundation: urbanization, tertiarization and globalization. These issues are at the core of this book. The urbanization of society, a process in development from the first steps of industrialization, is particularly significant today with the predominance and quick growth rate of the world's urban population. Ongoing urbanization is creating new perspectives on forestry, inducing changes in its social representation and changing lifestyles and practices with a tendency toward dematerialization. The process of urbanization is also creating a disconnect and in some ways is leaving behind rurality the sector of society where forestry has traditionally developed and taken place over centuries The second issue covered in this book is the tertiarization of the economy In society today the sector of services largely dominates the economy and occupies the major part of the world s active population This ongoing process modifies professional modalities and ways of life and opens new doors to forests through the immaterial goods they provide It also profoundly changes the framework rules processes means of production exchanges between economic factors and the processes of innovation The third issue is undoubtedly globalization in its economic political and social components Whether it s through bridging distances crossing borders accelerating changes standardizing practices leveling hierarchical structures or pushing for interdependence globalization impacts everyone everywhere in multiple ways Forestry is no exception Forestry in the Midst of Global Changes focuses on these global drivers of change from the perspective of their relationships with how society functions By analyzing them in depth through multidisciplinary interdisciplinary and even transdisciplinary approaches this book is helping to design the forestry of tomorrow
