Hubert Damisch, 1996-06-15 Drawing on Freudian theories of sexuality and Kant's conception of the beautiful French art historian Hubert Damisch considers artists as diverse as Raphael, Picasso, Watteau and Manet to demonstrate that beauty has always been connected to ideas of sexual difference and pleasure. Damisch's tale begins with the judgment of Paris in which Paris awards Venus the golden apple and thus forever links beauty with desire. The casting of this decision as a mistake in which desire is rewarded over wisdom and strength is then linked to theories of the unconscious and psychological drives. In his quest for an exposition of the beautiful in its relation to visual pleasure, Damisch employs what he terms analytic iconology, following the revisions and repetitions of the motif of the judgment through art history, philosophy, aesthetics and psychoanalysis. This translation brings an important figure of the French art historical tradition to Anglo-American audiences.

Kaf-Hê: 1940-1965, 2022-07-04     The Publications of the Huguenot Society of London Huguenot Society of London, 1912     Concise Dictionary of Foreign Quotations Anthony Lejeune, 2018-10-24 Here is the answer for anyone who comes across a foreign language quotation in a newspaper article or a book and isn't quite sure what it means. Here are famous sayings in five European languages: Latin, French, German, Italian, and Spanish, accompanied by their translations into English and cross-indexed for easy reference. Just what did Mussolini say about making the trains run on time? Did Marie Antoinette really tell the poor to eat cake? Concise Dictionary of Foreign Quotations includes more than 3,000 entries chosen by five editors, each one widely read in the language concerned. The majority of entries were included because they are familiar: those an English reader would be most likely to encounter. Literary quotations, political quotations, poetic thoughts, pungent comments, polished epigrams, shrewd perceptions by everyone from Cicero to Sartre, from Michelangelo to Picasso.

The Nabis and Intimate Modernism Katherine M. Kuenzli, 2017-07-05 Providing a fresh perspective on an important but underappreciated group of late nineteenth-century French painters, this is the first book to provide an in-depth account of the Nabis practice of the decorative and its significance for twentieth-century modernism. Over the course of the ten years that define the Nabi movement (1890-1900), its principal artists included Edouard Vuillard, Pierre Bonnard, Maurice Denis, Paul Sérusier, and Paul Ranson. The author reconstructs the Nabis relationship to Impressionism, mass culture, literary Symbolism, Art Nouveau, Wagnerianism, and a revolutionary artistic tradition in order to show how their painterly practice emerges out of the pressing questions defining modernism around 1900. She shows that the Nabis were engaged nonetheless with issues that are always at stake in accounts of nineteenth-century modernist painting: issues such as the relationship of high and low art, of individual sensibility and collective identity of the public and private spheres. The Nabis and Intimate Modernism is a rigorous study of the intellectual and artistic endeavors that inform the Nabis decorative domestic paintings in the 1890s and argues for their centrality to painterly modernism. The book ends up not only repositioning the Nabis to occupy a crucial place in modernism's development from 1860 to 1914 but also challenges that narrative to place more emphasis on notions of decoration, totality, and interiority.     Atlantis, 1989
