

Building the JavaScript Library

The first step in building the JavaScript library is to create a new file named `library.js` in the `src` directory. This file will contain the code for the library.

Next, we need to define the `Library` constructor function.

The `Library` constructor function will take a single argument, the `name` of the library.

The `Library` constructor function will create a new object with the following properties:

- `name`: The name of the library.
- `version`: The version of the library.
- `author`: The author of the library.
- `description`: The description of the library.
- `license`: The license of the library.
- `url`: The URL of the library.
- `email`: The email address of the author.
- `phone`: The phone number of the author.
- `address`: The address of the author.

Example

The following code defines the `Library` constructor function and creates a new `Library` object.

function Library(name) {
  this.name = name;
  this.version = '1.0.0';
  this.author = 'John Doe';
  this.description = 'A JavaScript library for building web applications';
  this.license = 'MIT';
  this.url = 'http://example.com/library';
  this.email = 'john.doe@example.com';
  this.phone = '123-456-7890';
  this.address = '123 Main St, New York, NY 10001';
}
```

The following code creates a new `Library` object and logs it to the console.

var lib = new Library('My Library');
console.log(lib);
```

Example

The following code defines the `Library` constructor function and creates a new `Library` object.
