theory and practice of citizenship in the United States today is bewildering and disconcerting. Despite earnest concern for participation access and leverage, there is a widespread perception that nothing citizens do has much meaning or influence. This book argues that for American democracy to work in the twenty-first century, renewed interest in teaching the nation's young citizens a sense of the public good is imperative. All of the nation's founders, especially Adams, Jefferson, Franklin, and Madison, addressed the question of whether and how a citizen can make a difference in the American political process. This concern harkens back even farther to Locke, Erasmus, and Aristotle. Today, one obstacle to good citizenship is the social scientific turn in political science. Leaders in civic education in the twentieth century eschewed grand ideas and moral principles in favour of a focus on behaviourism and competitive liberal politics. Another problem is the growing belief that the government has no business promoting the public good through the support of religious, educational, or cultural efforts. Ralph Ketcham vividly depicts the relationship of private self-interest and public spirited action as these pertain to citizenship and good government. This is an enlightening book for the general reader as well as for students, professional social scientists, and political philosophers.

ECAI 2006 G. Brewka, S. Coradeschi, A. Perini, 2006-08-10 In the summer of 1956, John McCarthy organized the famous Dartmouth Conference, which is now commonly viewed as the founding event for the field of Artificial Intelligence. During the last 50 years, AI has seen a tremendous development and is now a well-established scientific discipline all over the world. Also in Europe, AI is in excellent shape, as witnessed by the large number of high-quality papers in this publication. In comparison with ECAI 2004, there is a strong increase in the relative number of submissions from Distributed AI, Agents, and Cognitive Modelling. Knowledge Representation Reasoning is traditionally strong in Europe and remains the biggest area of ECAI 06. One reason the figures for Case-Based Reasoning are rather low is that much of the high-quality work in this area has found its way into prestigious applications and is thus represented under the heading of PAIS.

Beneath the Mask Robert N. Sollod, Christopher F. Monte, 2008-01-22 Beneath the Mask presents classic theories of human nature, much as each theorist might if the theorist were to teach his or her ideas to people encountering them for the first time. Through a theorist-by-theorist approach, this Eighth Edition continues to explore the ideas of personality theorists, developmentally incorporating the personal origins of ideas to illuminate links between the psychology of each theorist and that theorist's own psychology of persons. Beneath the Mask presents the sequence of thinking for more than 20 theorists and demonstrates how the thinking that led to major theories is nested in the life experience of the theorists within the context of the surrounding culture. The authors emphasize each theorist's life history as the basis for the ideas that constitute his or her theories, making them easier to understand as pictures of human nature. John P. Wilson has revised the text in a manner that preserves and improves upon the best features of the late Robert N. Sollod and Christopher Monte's work.

Beyond Equilibrium Theory M. Ross DeWitt, 2000 Beyond Equilibrium Theory is a fundamentally new interpretation of social reality that introduces theories of social formation and transformation for micro and macro analysis of action systems and social movements Equilibrium and conflict are viewed as societal variants rather than as ideal or natural states Classical theorists are placed within a common theoretical framework in an analysis of social order and social change as separate continua Multiple path models trace changing patterns of partnering and power sharing Hypotheses are tested with field collected survey data regression analysis of higher order interactions and comparisons of means adjusted for other effects Researchers are provided with detailed methods of integrating theory and research including nonlinear models and new logics of causality

A Darwinian Survival Guide Daniel R. Brooks,Salvatore J. Agosta,2024-02-06 How humanity brought about the climate crisis by departing from its evolutionary trajectory 15 000 years ago and how we can use evolutionary principles to save ourselves from the worst outcomes Despite efforts to sustain civilization humanity faces existential threats from overpopulation globalized trade and travel urbanization and global climate change In A Darwinian Survival Guide Daniel Brooks and Salvatore Agosta offer a novel and hopeful perspective on how to meet these tremendous challenges by changing the discourse from sustainability to survival Darwinian evolution the world's only theory of survival is the means by which the biosphere has persisted and renewed itself following past environmental perturbations and it has never failed they explain Even in the aftermath of mass extinctions enough survivors remain with the potential to produce a new diversified biosphere Drawing on their expertise as field biologists Brooks and Agosta trace the evolutionary path from the early days of humans through the Late Pleistocene and the beginning of the Anthropocene all the way to the Great Acceleration of technological humanity around 1950 demonstrating how our creative capacities have allowed humanity to survive However constant conflict without resolution has made the Anthropocene not only unsustainable but unsurvivable Guided by the four laws of biotics the authors explain how humanity should interact with the rest of the biosphere and with each other in accordance with Darwinian principles They reveal a middle ground between apocalypse and utopia with two options alter our behavior now at great expense and extend civilization or fail to act and rebuild in accordance with those same principles If we take the latter then our immediate goal ought to focus on preserving as many of humanity's positive achievements from high technology to high art as possible to shorten the time needed to rebuild
