Fly In Fly Out:

The Social Impacts of Mine Closure in South Africa Lochner Marais, 2022-09-05 This book investigates the relationship between mining mine closure and housing policy in post apartheid South Africa using concepts from new institutional economics and evolutionary governance theory Mine closures present a major challenge to the mining industry and governments with this being particularly noticeable in the Global South This book argues that the dependencies created by the mining industry and mine housing policies while a mine is operational cause serious societal problems when it closes To demonstrate this the book applies the concepts of place attachment asset based development and social disruption Conceptually the book challenges the view that place attachment and asset based development are the most appropriate and often the only policy responses in mining areas In South Africa the mining industry and the government have created comprehensive housing programmes linked to homeownership to promote place attachment stability and wealth among mine workers These programmes do not consider the disruption that mine closure might bring The book challenges the blind application during boom periods of policies which create long term dependencies that are difficult to manage when a mine closes This book will be of interest to students and scholars researching the social impacts of mining and the extractive industries social geography and sustainable development as well as policymakers and practitioners working with mine closure or social impact assessments Advances in Safety Management and Human Performance Pedro M. skilled workers urbanisation and ruralisation population ageing the impacts of climate change the life outcomes of Indigenous peoples globalisation and international migration Based on a strong theoretical framework around issues of heterogeneity generational change temporariness and the relative strength of internal and external ties Demography at the Edge provides a common set of approaches and issues that benefit both researchers and practitioners Unequal Lives Nicholas A. Bainton, Debra McDougall, Kalissa Alexeyeff, John Cox, 2021-01-18 As we move further into the twenty first century we are witnessing both the global extensification and local intensification of inequality Unequal Lives deals with the particular dilemmas of inequality in the Western Pacific The authors focus on four dimensions of inequality the familiar triad of gender race and class and the often neglected dimension of generation Grounded in meticulous long term ethnographic enquiry and deep awareness of the historical contingency of these configurations of inequality this volume illustrates the multidimensional multiscale and epistemic nature of contemporary inequality This collection is a major contribution to academic and political debates about the perverse effects of inequality which now ranks among the greatest challenges of our time The inspiration for this volume derives from the breadth and depth of Martha Macintyre s remarkable scholarship The contributors celebrate Macintyre s groundbreaking work which exemplifies the explanatory power ethical force and pragmatism that ensures the relevance of anthropological research to the lives of others and to understanding the global condition Unequal Lives is an impressive collection by Melanesianist anthropologists with reputations for theoretical sophistication ethnographic imagination and persuasive writing It brilliantly illuminates all aspects of the multifaceted scholarship of Martha Macintyre whose life and teaching are also highlighted in the commentaries tributes and interview included in the volume Robert J Foster Professor of Anthropology and Visual and Cultural Studies Richard L Turner Professor of Humanities University of Rochester Inspired by Martha Macintyre s work the contributors to Unequal Lives show that to theorise inequality is a measured project one that requires rescaling its exercise over several decades in order to recognise the reality of inequality as it is known in social relations and to document it critically unravelling their own readiness to misjudge what they see from the lives that are lived by the people with whom they have lived and studied This fine volume shows how the ordinariness of everyday work and care can be a chimera wherein the apparent reality of inequality might mislead less critical reports to obscure its very account From reading it we learn that such unrelenting questioning of what makes lives unequal becomes the very analytic for better understanding lives as they are lived Karen M Sykes Professor of Anthropology University of Manchester Engineering Education Firoz Alam, Alexandra Kootsookos, 2020-12-17 This book details the key concepts objectives and processes relating to the professional accreditation of engineering bachelor honours degrees The contemporary context of accreditation is examined in terms of the globalised nature of both the engineering profession and higher education Examples of the processes relating to single and dual accreditation are provided with examination of the Washington Accord and the requirements of the European Network for Accreditation of Engineering

Education Details are also provided as to how learning outcomes can be structured to demonstrate compliance with accreditation criteria The final chapters deal briefly with quality assurance processes used in education and the current international quality ranking systems which exist This book will provide the reader with a detailed examination of outcome based education within the context of Bachelor of Engineering honours degrees A key feature of this book is the side by side comparison of different accreditation criteria and a thorough discussion of the relatively new phenomenon of dual accreditation The book seeks to provide a very clear explanation and exploration of accreditation within the context of engineering education and will benefit those practitioners involved in the accreditation process Sustainability and Short-term Policies Stefan Sjöblom,Kjell Andersson,Sarah Skerratt,2016-04-01 There has been a profound change within the sphere of government and societal regulation in recent years Traditional hierarchical government has been challenged by new governance instruments relying on negotiations instead of command and control Alongside this development there has been a change in the time framing of politics and steering Traditional politics implicitly has been based on stability and permanence while new forms of governance explicitly are based on just in time actions such as projects and issue based collaborations in networks and programs This book analyses the implications of this shortening of time frames focusing particularly on spatial policy interventions Spatial policies have a special relevance when it comes to governance and new forms of societal steering On the one hand the local geographical level in politics is the principal battleground for the struggle between top down and bottom up approaches and aspirations On the other hand many of the most burning issues of our time require a global strategic approach for example climate change resource depletion population growth are anchored in space and the physical world Whether and how short term spatial approaches can achieve sustainable development outcomes is thus a critical question and forms the focus of this volume The book examines the characteristics of temporary policy measures across a range of rural urban and regional contexts in four continents Europe North America Oceania and Africa The outcomes and effects of these policies and interventions are analysed particularly focusing on the tension between short term interventions and long term effects Nursing in Australia Nathan J.
