| Skip                 | Chapter 17-18: Huck stays with the Grangerfords, who are in the middle of a feud with the Shepherdsons. This feud only stops for church. A Grangerford daughter elopes with a Shepherdson and war breaks out. Huck and Jim escape together (Jim has repaired the raft). Chapter 19-20: The Duke and the King. Huck finds two con artists looking for escape and he lets them on the raft. One claims he is a duke, and the other claims he is the rightful King of France. The King cons money from those at a camp meeting. Chapters 21-23: The con men practice Shakespeare. In a small town, a man kills a townsman who has been bothering him and the town wants to lynch him. The Duke and King con the town into a "show" and then flee on the raft with the money. Huck is amazed at Jim's emotions for his family. Chapters 24: The Peter Wilks' fortune. The con men scam a town into believing they are the English brothers arrived to inherit Peter Wilks' fortune. Chapters 25-28: Huck is increasingly uncomfortable with the scam. The servant asks him about England; he can't keep his lies straight. He finds where the con men hid the gold and hides it in the coffin (unintentionally). The Duke and the King sell the estate. Mary Jane is heartbroken at the break-up of a slave family, and Huck admits the scam and promises to help. Chapters 29-30: The true brothers arrive in town; the fraud is discovered. Huck is told he is not good at lying. When the gold is discovered on the dead man's chest, Huck and the con men flee. Huck and Jim are disappointed when they find they still aren't free from the con men. |
| For Mon 12/7         | Chapter 31: The con men sell Jim for $40. Huck feels guilty for caring about Jim. He prays to be better and writes a letter to Miss Watson telling where Jim is. Then, he recalls the good moments he had with Jim and tears up the letter: "You can't pray a lie." He plots to steal Jim free. Chapter 32-33: The Phelps' Farm. Huck goes to the house where Jim is held and is welcomed as Tom Sawyer. He intercepts the true Tom Sawyer, who promises to help get Jim out of slavery. Huck wants to warn the con men but is too late. "Human beings can be awful cruel to each other."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
