Handbook on China's Urban Environmental Governance Fangzhu Zhang, Fulong Wu, 2023-11-03 This Handbook addresses how Chinese cities govern environmental changes generated by fast economic growth and urbanisation. With in depth case studies on governing waste management climate change and energy transition it will illuminate the relationship between the state market and society in environmental governance Chinatown Unbound , Kay Anderson, Ien Ang, Andrea Del Bono, Donald McNeill, Alexandra Wong, 2019-01-25 Chinatowns are familiar places in almost all major cities in the world. In popular Western wisdom the restaurants pagodas and red lanterns are intrinsically equated with a self contained immigrant Chinese district an alien enclave of the East in the West. By the 1980s when these Western societies had largely given up their racially discriminatory immigration policies and opened up to Asian immigration the dominant conception of Chinatown was no longer that of an abject ethnic ghetto rather Chinatown was now seen as a positive expression of multicultural heritage and difference. By the early 21st century however these spatial and cultural constructions of Chinatown as an other space whether negative or positive have been thoroughly destabilised by the impacts of accelerating globalisation and transnational migration. This book provides a timely and much needed paradigm shift in this regard through an in depth case study of Sydney's Chinatown. It speaks to the growing multilateral connections that link Australia and Asia and especially China together not just economically but also socially and culturally as a consequence of increasing transnational flows of people money ideas and things. Further the book elicits a particular sense of a place in Sydney's Chinatown that of an interconnected world in which Western and Asian realms inhabit each other and in which the orientalist legacy is being reconfigured in new deployments and more complex delimitations. As such Chinatown Unbound engages with and contributes to making sense of the epochal shift in the global balance of power towards Asia especially China Conducting and Financing Low-carbon Transitions in China Zhang, Le-Yin, 2021-11-19 Utilizing a governmentality lens this timely book offers an explanation for China's decarbonization performance in the early 21st century. Le Yin Zhang investigates one of the most ambitious governing projects in history analyzing the political rationalities of Chinese leaders for decarbonization and the governing techniques and technologies at multiple levels of governance English Pronunciation Models in a Globalized World Andrew Sewell, 2016-04-14 This book explores the topics of English accents and pronunciation. It highlights their connections with several important issues in the study of English in the world including intelligibility identity and globalization. The unifying strand is provided by English pronunciation models what do these models consist of and why. The focus on pronunciation teaching is combined with sociolinguistic perspectives on global English and the wider question asked by the book is what does it mean to teach English pronunciation in a globalized world. The book takes Hong Kong Asia's World City as a case study of how global and local influences interact and of how decisions about teaching need to reflect this interaction. It critically examines existing approaches to global English such as World Englishes and English as a Lingua

Franca and considers their contributions as well as their limitations in the Hong Kong context A data based approach with quantitative and qualitative data anchors the discussion and assists in the development of criteria for the contents of pronunciation models English Pronunciation Models in a Globalized World Accent Acceptability and Hong Kong English discusses among other issues Global English A socio linguistic toolkit Accents and Communication Intelligibility in global English Teaching English Pronunciation The models debate Somewhere Between Accent and pronunciation in Hong Kong Researchers and practitioners of English studies and applied linguistics will find this book an insightful resource Ethical Dimensions of Commercial and DIY Neurotechnologies ,2020-04-12 Ethical Dimensions of Commercial and DIY Neurotechnologies Volume Three the latest release in the Developments in Neuroethics and Bioethics series highlights new advances in the field with this new volume presenting interesting chapters on timely topics surrounding neuroethics and bioethics Each chapter is written by an international board of authors Provides the authority and expertise of leading contributors from an international board of authors Presents the latest release in the Developments in Neuroethics and Bioethics series Includes the latest information on the ethics of commercial and DIY neurotechnologies English Medium Instruction in Secondary Education Jack Pun,2024-04-19 Jack Pun presents best practices in pedagogy and teaching to facilitate effective content subject learning at the secondary school level Increasingly parents are sending their children to English Medium Instruction EMI secondary schools in their home countries to prepare them for full immersion in EMI in English native speaking countries The book explores the teaching and learning processes in EMI senior secondary science classrooms based in thirty secondary schools in Hong Kong Conducting analyses of classroom teacher and student perception data the author discusses the issues of teaching science through the medium of English in secondary schools the implications and applications for professional development of science teachers and other content subject teachers and suggests strategies for teaching science in different EMI contexts This volume is highly relevant to scholars in the field of educational linguistics particularly in English language teaching content based instruction content and language integrated learning and English as a medium of instruction It is also useful to education policymakers school teachers research students English and education majors Planning and Analyzing Teaching Angelika Kullberg,Åke Ingerman,Ference Marton,2024-01-24 Using illustrative teaching case studies this book demonstrates how teaching informed by a learning theory specifically Variation theory can equip teachers to facilitate possibilities for students learning in effective and powerful ways For a long period of time teaching has been black boxed in favour of other explanations of why students learn or not such as motivation and social interaction A large amount of research on teaching and learning not the least made using Variation theory has shown that students often need to experience the same aspects of the focused content or capability in order to learn indicating that relationships between teaching and learning are not unique or even qualitatively different for every individual and every situation This perspective on the relationship between teaching and learning emphasizes content specific aspects and in that sense structural components of teaching while other aspects of schooling such as social interaction and general well being recede into the background The authors argue for the importance of this in the direct development of teachers independent collective professional knowledge about teaching and the leverage this gives for developing student learning They introduce theoretical tools to help teachers to increase the probability that teaching focusing a specific content or capability is predictive of students learning of that specific content or capability while decreasing contextual dependency without assuming that teaching and learning have a one to one relationship Intended for teachers graduate students in education teacher educators student teachers and researchers this book shows that while there is no simple equation between teaching and learning there are general though content specific aspects of teaching that can be systematically planned and analyzed and used to improve the quality of student learning The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license
