The Equality Trap Mary Ann Mason,2018-04-17 Despite the feminist revolution of the past twenty years most women in America are worse off today than at any time in the recent past Magazines and television programs profile women bank executives surgeons and corporate lawyers but the vast majority of women still work in relatively low paying jobs Women work more hours per week in the house and outside than ever before and a paying job has become a necessity for women in most households What went wrong In this provocative book Mary Ann Mason argues that the women s movement shares some of the blame for this situation In an original analysis that draws on both social and legal history she explains how the move away from women s rights toward equal rights has worsened the situation of American working women especially working mothers Because women are still the primary care providers for their children they must take flexible and relatively low paying jobs to be available in case of a child care problem With nearly 50 percent of all marriages now ending in divorce and with a growing trend inspired by the equal rights movement toward no fault divorce and low or no alimony settlements divorced mothers frequently find themselves economically devastated Mary Ann Mason argues that the solution to this predicament is to draw up a new women s rights agenda that will benefit all working women especially those with children The equal rights strategy was important in opening the door for the highly publicized super achievers but it is now time she says to improve the lives of the majority of America s working women This book will be of interest to readers interested in gender studies and particularly issues of equality and feminism Mary Ann Mason is a professor of law and social welfare at the University of California Berkeley In addition to her law degree Mason holds a Ph D in American social history

Social Capital and Institutional Constraints Joonmo Son, 2013 The sociological concept of social capital has grown in popularity in recent years and research programs in North America Europe and East Asia have demonstrated how social capital has a significant impact on occupational mobility community building social movement and economic development This book uses new empirical data to test how social capital works in different societies with diverse political economic and cultural institutions Taking a comparative approach this study focuses on data from three different societies China Taiwan and the United States in order to reveal the international commonalities and disparities in access to and activation of social capital in labor markets In particular this book tests whether political economic and cultural differences between capitalist and socialist economic systems and between Western and Confucian cultures create different types of individual social networks and usages This comparison leads to Joonmo Son s fundamental argument that the institutional constraints of a society s political economy on the one hand and culture on the other profoundly impact on both the composition and utilization of social capital Based on rigorous statistical analysis this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of social capital economic sociology and comparative politics
