Job Order Costing and Analysis

QUESTIONS

1. Factory overhead is not identified with specific units (jobs) or batches (job lots). Therefore, to assign costs, estimates of the relation between factory overhead cost and job or job lot are necessary. Since managers need timely cost information, we need to estimate a predetermined overhead rate to use in applying estimated overhead to jobs. This estimated amount also helps job order companies determine prices on a timely basis.
2. Several other factors (allocation bases) are possible and reasonable. These common factors often include direct materials or machine hours.
3. The job order cost sheet captures information on cost and quantity of direct material and direct labor, and on the amount of factory overhead applied to the respective job or job lot. Management and employees use this information to monitor costs during production and to estimate total cost of production.
4. Each job is assigned a subsidiary ledger account. This account serves as the "posting account" (accumulates all increases and decreases) during production for direct material, direct labor, and applied factory overhead. The collection of job cost sheets for all of the jobs in process make up a subsidiary ledger controlled by the Work in Process Inventory account in the general ledger.

When a job is finished, its job cost sheet is completed and moved from the file of jobs in process to the file of finished jobs awaiting delivery to customers. This latter file

Accounting for Sustainability: Asia Pacific Perspectives Ki-Hoon Lee,Stefan Schaltegger,2018-01-30 This book advances the understanding of corporate sustainability and challenges and roles of sustainability accounting in the Asia Pacific region The Asia Pacific region has shown fast economic growth for several decades which is expected to continue In this context Asia has become the production engine of the global economy At the same time scientific reports reveal that some planetary boundaries are crossed for example relating to biodiversity and climate change Companies in the Asia Pacific region are therefore increasingly challenged to reduce their environmental impacts to document their social contribution and to contribute to sustainable development Key approaches to identify sustainability problems and challenges to support improvement processes and to back up sustainability contributions include accounting and reporting In contrast to the high relevance of accounting and reporting for corporate sustainability for the Asia Pacific region academic research has so far been dominated by Western researchers and pre dominantly dealt with Western and Japanese cases and approaches It is thus time to take account of Asian perspectives on accounting and reporting for sustainability in the Asia Pacific region
