David Willetts, 2017-11-17 Universities have a crucial role in the modern world In England entrance to universities is by nation wide competition which means English universities have an exceptional influence on schools a striking theme of the book This important book first investigates the university as an institution and then tracks the individual on their journey to and through university In A University Education David Willetts presents a compelling case for the ongoing importance of the university both as one of the great institutions of modern society and as a transformational experience for the individual The book also makes illuminating comparisons with higher education in other countries especially the US and Germany Drawing on his experience as UK Minister for Universities and Science from 2010 to 2014 the author offers a powerful account of the value of higher education and the case for more expansion He covers controversial issues in which he was involved from access for disadvantaged students to the introduction of 9 000 fees The final section addresses some of the big questions for the future such as the the relationship between universities and business especially in promoting innovation He argues that the two great contemporary trends of globalisation and technological innovation will both change the university significantly This is an authoritative account of English universities setting them for the first time in their new legal and regulatory framework Education for Sustainable Development Brian Chalkley, Martin Haigh, David Higgitt, 2013-09-13 In 2005 The United Nations launched its Decade of Education for Sustainable Development which recognises that education including Higher Education is the key to the change in social attitudes that will be needed to protect the welfare of future generations This involves helping learners to live as though the future matters and to achieve ecoliteracy This includes the understanding that personal lifestyle decisions may have consequences ranging from climate change through loss of biodiversity to pollution and resource depletion that may permit environmental degradation on a planetary scale It also involves helping them to develop the skills needed to cope with such challenges This international collection of research papers and position statements from special issues of the Journal of Geography in Higher Education and Applied Environmental Education and Communication written by many of the leading practitioners in the field aims to provide resources and practical guidance for all seeking to promote and engage in education for a sustainable future Rabindranath Tagore encouraged each learner to make their actions demonstrate a harmonious union between education and environment David Orr argued that the world needs people who live well in their places to make the world both habitable and humane and that the main challenge for education is to help learners make their minds fit for life on Earth This book tries to chart a practical route towards these objectives This book was previously published as special issues of the Journal of Geography in Higher Education and Applied Environmental Education and Communication IJER Vol 27-N3 International Journal of Educational Reform, 2018-07-30 The mission of the International Journal of Educational Reform IJER is to keep readers up to date with worldwide developments in education reform by providing scholarly information and practical analysis from recognized international

PEFA, Public Financial Management, and Good Governance Jens Kromann Kristensen, Martin Bowen, Cathal Long, Shakira Mustapha, Urška Zrinski, 2019-11-24 This project based on the Public Expenditure and Financial Accountability PEFA data set researched how PEFA can be used to shape policy development in public financial management PFM and other major relevant policy areas such as anticorruption revenue mobilization political economy analysis and fragile states The report explores what shapes the PFM system in low and middle income countries by examining the relationship between political institutions and the quality of the PFM system Although the report finds some evidence that multiple political parties in control of the legislature is associated with better PFM performance the report finds the need to further refine and test the theories on the relationship between political institutions and PFM The report addresses the question of the outcomes of PFM systems distinguishing between fragile and nonfragile states It finds that better PFM performance is associated with more reliable budgets in terms of expenditure composition in fragile states but not aggregate budget credibility Moreover in contrast to existing studies it finds no evidence that PFM quality matters for deficit and debt ratios irrespective of whether a country is fragile or not The report also explores the relationship between perceptions of corruption and PFM performance It finds strong evidence of a relationship between better PFM performance and improvements in perceptions of corruption It also finds that PFM reforms associated with better controls have a stronger relationship with improvements in perceptions of corruption compared to PFM reforms associated with more transparency The last chapter looks at the relationship between PEFA indicators for revenue administration and domestic resource mobilization It focuses on the credible use of penalties for noncompliance as a proxy for the type of political commitment required to improve tax performance The analysis shows that countries that credibly enforce penalties for noncompliance collect more taxes on average
