Geography November 2014 Question Paper:

The Suburban Land Question Richard Harris, Ute Lehrer, 2018-04-13 As part of the urbanization process suburban development involves the conversion of rural land to urban use When discussing the suburbs most writers focus on particular countries in the northern hemisphere implying that patterns and processes elsewhere are fundamentally different The purpose of The Suburban Land Question is to identify the common elements of suburban development focusing on issues associated with the scale and pace of rapid urbanization around the world Editors Richard Harris and Ute Lehrer and a diverse group of contributors draw on a variety of sources including official data planning documents newspapers interviews photographs and field observations to explore the pattern process and planning of suburban land development Featuring case studies from major world regions including China India Latin America South Africa as well as France Austria the Netherlands the United States and Canada the volume identifies and discusses the peculiarly transitional character of suburban land In addition to place and time The Suburban Land Question addresses the many elements that distinguish land development in urban fringe areas including economy social infrastructure and legality

Clean Power Politics Joseph P. Tomain, 2017-02-17 The United States has been experiencing an energy transition for over four decades and now thanks to the Clean Power Plan of the Obama Administration and the Paris climate agreement a clean energy future is moving closer to reality In Clean Power Politics Joseph Tomain describes how clean energy policies have been developed and more importantly what is necessary for a successful transition to a clean energy future including technological innovation new business models and regulatory reforms The energy system of the future will minimize the environmental costs of traditional energy production and consumption and emphasize expanded use of natural resources and energy efficiency Because many new energy technologies can be produced and consumed at smaller scales they will shift decision making power away from traditional utilities and empower consumers to make energy choices about consumption and price In this way a clean energy future embodies a democratization of energy

America Ascendant Stanley B. Greenberg, 2015-11-03 America is poised to lead the 21st Century as it led the 20th That will happen because the country is at a tipping point in the battle for its own renewal a renewal that will allow America to be exceptional again Our economy is on the move fueled by revolutions in energy immigration innovation big data and advanced manufacturing America's energy independence has set off shockwaves Just as important are the social transformations that are making the country ever more racially and culturally diverse younger a home to immigrants and the metropolitan centers that foster a rising economic and cultural dynamism While most other countries struggle profoundly with immigration and religious and racial differences America is on a path to multicultural identity Those revolutions in the economy society and culture and are also producing a new American majority that embraces new values and new politics Republicans are waging a counter revolution and that is why America looks gridlocked and why the country is turning to Democrats to take on the country's growing challenges The economic and social transformations leave people struggling to earn enough and reach the middle class Families are under stress Government is corrupted by big money The American public is demanding the country address the dark side of our progress and reforms are starting to happen That is why Democrats will get to lead an era of reform and renewal comparable to the progressive era that mitigated the excesses of the Industrial Revolution In this incisive book expert strategist Greenberg draws on years of research and polling to illuminate how America is far from being gridlocked and he articulates a powerful vision of how American politics and America can be renewed Geographers Hayden Lorimer, Charles W. J. Withers, 2016-09-22

Cowen, 2017-02-28 A Wall Street Journal and Washington Post Bestseller Tyler Cowen's blog Marginal Revolution is the first thing I read every morning And his brilliant new book The Complacent Class has been on my nightstand after I devoured it in one sitting I am at round the clock Cowen saturation right now Malcolm Gladwell Since Alexis de Tocqueville restlessness has been accepted as a signature American trait Our willingness to move take risks and adapt to change have produced a dynamic economy and a tradition of innovation from Ben Franklin to Steve Jobs The problem according to legendary blogger economist and best selling author Tyler Cowen is that Americans today have broken from this tradition we're working harder than ever to avoid change We're moving residences less marrying people more like ourselves and choosing our music and our mates based on algorithms that wall us off from anything that might be too new or too different Match.com matches us in love Spotify and Pandora match us in music Facebook matches us to just about everything else Of course this matching culture brings tremendous positives music we like partners who make us happy neighbors who want the same things We're more comfortable But according to Cowen there are significant collateral downsides attending this comfort among them heightened inequality and segregation and decreased incentives to innovate and create The Complacent Class argues that this cannot go on forever We are postponing change due to our near sightedness and extreme desire for comfort but ultimately this will make change when it comes harder The forces unleashed by the Great Stagnation will eventually lead to a major fiscal and budgetary crisis impossibly expensive rentals for our most attractive cities worsening of residential segregation and a decline in our work ethic The only way to avoid this difficult future is for Americans to force themselves out of their comfortable slumber to embrace their restless tradition again      Children, Young People and Critical Geopolitics Matthew C. Benwell, Peter Hopkins, 2017-05-15 Young people and in particular children have typically been marginalised in geopolitical research positioned as too young to understand or relate to the adult dominated world of international relations Integrating current debates in critical geopolitics and political geography with research in children's geographies childhood studies and youth research this book sets out an agenda for the field of children's and young people's critical geopolitics It considers diverse practices such as play activism media consumption and diplomacy to show how children's and young people's lives relate to wider regional and global geopolitical processes Engaging with contemporary concepts in human geography including ludic geopolitics affect emotional geographies intergenerationality creative diplomacy popular geopolitics and citizenship the authors draw on geopolitical research with children and young people from Europe Asia Australasia Africa and the Americas The chapters highlight the ways in which young people can be enrolled ignored dismissed empowered and represented by the state for geopolitical ends Notwithstanding this state power the research presented also shows how young people have agency and make decisions about their lives which are influenced by wider geopolitical processes The focus on the lives of children and young people problematises and extends what it is we think of when considering the geopolitical which enriches as well as advances critical geopolitical enquiry and deserves to be taken seriously by political geographies more broadly      Sentient Subjects Gerda Roelvink, Magdalena Zolkos, 2020-12-27 Non cognitive expressions of the life of the subject feeling motion tactility instinct automatism and sentience have transformed how scholars understand subjectivity agency and identity This collection investigates the critical purchase of the idiom of affect in this post humanist thinking of the subject It also explores political and ethical questions raised by the deployment of affect as a theoretical and artistic category Together the contributors to this collection map the theoretically heterogeneous field of post humanist scholarship on affect making inspiring and at times surprising connections between Spinoza's and Tomkins's theories of affect the concept of affect and psychoanalysis and affect and animal studies in art and literature As a result the concepts vocabulary compatibility and attribution of affect are challenged and extended The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Angelaki      China's peaceful rise Christopher Herrick, Zheyi Gai, Surain Subramaniam, 2016-09-26 Adopting a constructivist approach this book argues that China's prospects for achieving great power status peacefully depend more on perceptions of the country's development than on concrete measures of power or economic benefits Incorporating historical perceptions survey data and general analysis the authors explore Chinese foreign policies in international organisations international trade security relations and as a model for global governance as well as the reactions to those policies within the context of China's relations with Asian neighbours India Japan and the states of South east Asia existing international powers the European Union Russia and the United States and emergent trading partners Africa      Climate Change, Migration and Conflict in Bangladesh Md Rafiqul Islam, 2023-08-18 This book explores the relationship between climate change induced migration and conflict in Bangladesh one of the most ecologically fragile countries in the world It explores why people migrate from their original place of land and how the migration of people with a different background to an ethnically distinctive region due to environmental changes can become a source of conflict and violence between the host peoples and migrants The volume focuses on the Chittagong Hill Tracts CHT which has experienced long standing ethno-political conflict due to the settlement and migration of the Bengali people from the plain land of Bangladesh This settlement and migration were mainly caused climatic events such as floods cyclones sealevel rise and disasters It traces the history of the ethnic conflict in the region and presents key findings from the field as well as the dynamics of everyday politics in the region This volume also highlights how internally climate displaced people generate violence and civil strife in the major urban cities through their settlements in slums The volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of environmental studies human geography migration and diaspora studies public policy social anthropology and South Asian studies

Neighbourhood Policy and the Construction of the European External Borders Filippo Celata, Raffaella Coletti, 2015-06-11 This book looks both backward and forward with regard to the European Union's political strategies towards its neighbouring countries By bringing together the perspectives of critical geopolitics policy studies and border studies it presents a comprehensive review of the European Neighbourhood Policy and how it impacts the ongoing construction of the EU's external frontiers Is the EU committed to promoting integration in a wider European space or is a fortress Europe emerging where the strengthening of internal cohesion is coupled with the militarisation of its external borders The book aims to problematize this question by showing how the EU's external policies are based on a mixture of openness and closure inclusion and exclusion cooperation and securitisation The European Neighbourhood Policy is a controversial strategy where regionalization and bordering homogenisations and differentiations centrifugal and centripetal forces proceed side by side in an explicit attempt to construct a selective mobile and fragmented border A specific focus is devoted to the diversity of geo strategies the EU is pursuing in its neighbouring countries and regions macro regional strategies and cross border cooperation initiatives as new scales of cooperation and the role of other global players

Ukraine Over the Edge Gordon M. Hahn, 2018-02-08 The Ukrainian crisis that dominated headlines in fall 2013 was decades in the making Two great schisms shaped events one within Ukraine its western and southeastern parts divided along cultural and political lines the other was driven by geopolitical factors Competition between Russia and the West exacerbated Ukraine's divisions This study focuses on the historical background and complex causality of the crisis from the rise of mass demonstrations on Kiev's Maidan Nezalezhnosti Independence Square to the making of the post revolt regime. In the context of a new cold war the author sheds light on the role of radical Ukrainian nationalists and neofascists in the February 2014 snipers massacre, the ouster of President Viktor Yanukovich and Russia's seizure of Crimea and involvement in the civil war in the eastern region of Donbass.

The European Union and the Geopolitics of the Arctic Andreas Raspotnik, 2018-01-26 The Arctic is a region that has seen exponential growth as a space of geopolitical interest over the past decade. This insightful book is the first to analyse the European Union's Arctic policy endeavours of the early 21st Century from a critical geopolitical perspective.

Cracking the China Conundrum Yukon Huang, 2017-06-22 China's rise is altering global power relations, reshaping economic debates and commanding tremendous public attention. Despite extensive media and academic scrutiny, the conventional wisdom about China's economy is often wrong. Cracking the China Conundrum provides a holistic and contrarian view of China's major economic, political and foreign policy issues. Yukon Huang trenchantly addresses widely accepted yet misguided views in the analysis of China's economy. He examines arguments about the causes and effects of China's possible debt and property market bubbles, trade and investment relations with the Western world, the links between corruption and political liberalization in a growing economy and Beijing's more assertive foreign policies. Huang explains that such misconceptions arise in part because China's economic system is unprecedented in many ways, namely because it's driven by both the market and state, which complicates the task of designing accurate and adaptable analysis and research. Further, China's size, regional diversity and uniquely decentralized administrative system poses difficulties for making generalizations and comparisons from micro to macro levels when trying to interpret China's economic state accurately. This book not only interprets the ideologies that experts continue building misguided theories upon but also examines the contributing factors to this puzzle. Cracking the China Conundrum provides an enlightening and corrective viewpoint on several major economic and political foreign policy concerns currently shaping China's economic environment.

Tax, Inequality, and Human Rights Philip Alston, Nikki Reisch, 2019-04-11 In Tax Inequality and Human Rights, experts in human rights law and in tax law debate the linkages between the two fields and highlight how each can help to tackle rapidly growing inequality in the economic, social and political realms. Against a backdrop of systemic corporate tax avoidance, widespread use of tax havens, persistent pressures to embrace austerity policies and growing gaps between the rich and poor, this book encourages readers to understand fiscal policy as human rights policy and thus as having profound consequences for the well being of citizens around the world. Prominent scholars and practitioners examine how the foundational principles of tax law and human rights law intersect and diverge, discuss the cross border nature and human rights impacts of abusive practices like tax avoidance and evasion, question the reluctance of states to bring transparency and accountability to tax policies and practices, highlight the responsibility of private sector actors for shaping and misshaping tax laws and critically evaluate domestic tax rules through the lens of equality and nondiscrimination The contributing authors also explore how international human rights obligations should influence the framework for both domestic and international tax reforms They address what human rights law requires of state tax policies and how tax laws and loopholes affect the enjoyment of human rights by people outside a state's borders Because tax and human rights both turn on the relationship between the individual and the state neo liberalism's erosion of the social contract threatens to undermine them both

Carbon Conflicts and Forest Landscapes in Africa Melissa Leach, Ian Scoones, 2015-06-05 Amidst the pressing challenges of global climate change the last decade has seen a wave of forest carbon projects across the world designed to conserve and enhance forest carbon stocks in order to reduce carbon emissions from deforestation and offset emissions elsewhere Exploring a set of new empirical case studies Carbon Conflicts and Forest Landscapes in Africa examines how these projects are unfolding their effects and who is gaining and losing Situating forest carbon approaches as part of more general moves to address environmental problems by attaching market values to nature and ecosystems it examines how new projects interact with forest landscapes and their longer histories of intervention The book asks what difference does carbon make What political and ecological dynamics are unleashed by these new commodified marketized approaches and how are local forest users experiencing and responding to them The book's case studies cover a wide range of African ecologies project types and national political economic contexts By examining these cases in a comparative framework and within an understanding of the national regional and global institutional arrangements shaping forest carbon commoditisation the book provides a rich and compelling account of how and why carbon conflicts are emerging and how they might be avoided in future This book will be of interest to students of development studies environmental sciences geography economics development studies and anthropology as well as practitioners and policy makers
