Mega-Event Mobilities Noel B. Salazar, Christiane Timmerman, Johan Wets, Luana Gama Gato, Sarah Van den Broucke, 2016-12-01 Global sports events are rarely far from the public eye. Such mega events are about much more than the sporting competitions themselves. They entail global exposure and intense struggles by different stakeholders. This is the first book to examine sports mega events from a mobilities perspective. It analyses the mobile construction of global sports mega events and the role this plays in managing labour imaginaries, policies and legacies. In particular, the book focuses on the tension between the various mobilities and immobilities that are implied in the process of constructing a mega event. It seeks to uncover the ways in which an event is a series of fluid interactions that occur sequentially and simultaneously at multiple scales in diverse spheres of interaction. Contributions explore the dynamics through which mega events occur, revealing the textures and nuance of the complex systems that sustain them and the ways that events ramify throughout the international system.

A Fair Deal on Talent - Fostering Just Migration Governance Bertelsmann Stiftung, 2015-05-12 If well managed migration generates benefits for migrants, their countries of origin and the countries they settle in. For migrants, it can help them expand their skill sets and improve their standard of living. For destination countries, it can alleviate demographic pressures and foster cultural diversity. For origin countries, it can bring benefits associated with remittances and knowledge transfers. However, in reality, these benefits are rarely achieved as migration policy failures frequently lead to suboptimal or even negative outcomes. Realizing the full potential of migration therefore demands we foster a paradigm shift toward the fair management of migration. Fair migration is driven by the desire to achieve a triple win for migrants, destination countries and origin countries. In addition to outlining the key challenges and opportunities associated with fair migration, this volume examines the good practices of a variety of countries and institutions which highlight aspects of fair migration. The volume concludes with policy recommendations for effective and fair migration policymaking at the national and international levels. As a conceptual and empirical contribution to both national and international debates on managing migration, this volume aims to enrich discussions among policymakers, business leaders, civil society actors and scholars alike.

Distance, Rating Systems and Enterprise Finance Franz Flögel, 2018-07-27 In response to the credit crunch during the global financial crisis of 2007 2008 many have called for the re establishment of regional banks in the UK and elsewhere In this context Germany's regional banking system with its more than 1 400 small and regional savings banks and cooperative banks is viewed as a role model in the financing of small and medium sized enterprises SMEs However in line with the death of distance debate the universal application of ICT based scoring and rating systems potentially obviates the necessity for proximity to reduce information asymmetries between banks and SMEs calling into question the key advantage of regional banks Utilising novel ethnographic findings from full time participant observation and interviews this book presents intimate insights into regional savings banks and compares their SME lending practices with large nationwide operating commercial banks in Germany The ethnographic insights are contextualised by concise description of the three pillar German banking system covering bank regulation structural and geographical developments and enterprise finance Furthermore the book advances an original theoretical approach that combines classical banking theories with insights from social studies of finance on the ontological foundation of new realism Ethnographic findings reveal varying distances of credit granting depending on the rating results i e large banks allocate considerable credit granting authority to local staff and therefore challenge the proximity advantages of regional banks Nevertheless by presenting case studies of lending to SMEs the book demonstrates the ability of regional banks to capitalise on proximity when screening and monitoring financially distressed SMEs and explains why the suggestion that ICT can substitute for proximity in SME lending has to be rejected

The Oxford Handbook of Political Consumerism Magnus Boström, Michele Micheletti, Peter Oosterveer, 2019-01-25 The global phenomenon of political consumerism is known through such diverse manifestations as corporate boycotts increased preferences for organic and fairtrade products and lifestyle choices such as veganism It has also become an area of increasing research across a variety of disciplines Political consumerism uses consumer power to change institutional or market practices that are found ethically environmentally or politically objectionable Through such actions the goods offered on the consumer market are problematized and politicized Distinctions between consumers and citizens and between the economy and politics collapse The Oxford Handbook of Political Consumerism offers the first comprehensive theoretical and comparative overview of the ways in which the market becomes a political arena. It maps the four major forms of political consumerism: boycotting, buycotting, spending to show support, and lifestyle politics and discursive actions such as culture jamming. Chapters by leading scholars examine political consumerism in different locations and industry sectors and in consideration of environmental and human rights problems, political events, and the ethics of production and manufacturing practices. This volume offers a thorough exploration of the phenomenon and its myriad dilemmas involving religion, race, nationalism, gender, relations with animals, and our common future. Moreover, the Handbook takes stock of political consumerism's effectiveness in solving complex global problems and its use to both promote and impede democracy.

The Changing Space Economy of City-Regions Koech Cheruiyot, 2017-10-30. This book addresses the South African Space Economy and its stark disparities and dualisms through an assessment of the Gauteng City Region, the largest economic agglomeration in the country and on a continent bedevilled by a myriad of development challenges. The book's focus on understanding the overall character of Gauteng City Region's Space Economy through data mining analysis and mapping comprehensively supplements the Space Economy literature on the region. It covers the disparities exacerbated by an overlay of apartheid planning ideology and top-down regional development based on selective encouragement of manufacturing investments in growth points or poles and how implementation of past policies intended to cure these disparities have yielded mixed results. This book further offers the Gauteng City Region as a microcosm of the national economy in the form of evident significant place-based variations in the intensity and character of economic structure that on the one hand enjoys massive agglomeration economies while on the other has high levels of poverty and large numbers of people living below the Minimum Living Level. This book should appeal to urban studies specialists, economists, and development studies researchers in the Global South.

Sensing Art in the Atmosphere Sasha Engelmann, 2020-09-28. This book engages artistic interventions in the aerial elements to investigate the aesthetics and politics of atmosphere. Sensing Art in the Atmosphere: Elemental Lures and Aerosolar Practices traces the potential of artistic community-driven experiments to amplify our sensing of atmosphere, marrying attentions to atmospheric affect with visceral awareness of the materials, institutions, and processes hovering in the air. Drawing on six years of practice-led research with artistic and activist initiatives Museo Aero Solar and Aerocene initiated by artist Tom's Saraceno, each chapter develops creative relations to atmosphere from the studio to stratospheric currents. Through narrative-led writing, the voices of artists and collaborators are situated and central. In dialogue with these aerographic stories and sites, the book develops a notion of elemental lures, the sensual and imaginative propositions of aerial atmospheric and meteorological phenomena. The promise of elemental lures, Engelmann suggests, is to reconcile our sensing of atmosphere with the myriad social, cultural, and political forces suspended in it. Through tales of floating journeys, shared envelopes of breath, and surreal levitations, the book foregrounds the role of art in crafting alternative modes of perceiving, moving, and imagining in the air. The book ends with a call for elemental experiments in the geohumanities. It makes an important and original contribution to elemental
