Delivering Home-based Services Susan F. Allen,Elizabeth M. Tracy,2009 Service providers are increasingly called upon to serve clients at home a setting even a seasoned professional can find difficult to negotiate From monitoring the health of older populations to managing paroled offenders preventing child abuse and reunifying families home based services require models that ensure positive outcomes and address the ethical dilemmas that might arise in such sensitive contexts The contributors to this volume are national experts in diverse fields of social work practice policy and research Treating the home as an ecological setting that guides human development and family interaction they present rationales for and overviews of evidence based models across an array of populations and fields of practice Part 1 provides historical background and contemporary applications for home based services highlighting ethical administrative and supervision issues and summarizing the social policies that shape service delivery Part 2 addresses home based practice in such fields as child and adult mental health school social work and hospice care detailing the particular population being treated the policy and agency context theories and empirical data and practice guidelines Part 3 the editors present a unifying framework and suggest future directions for home based social work Communication as Comfort Sandra L. Ragan, Elaine M.

Wittenberg-Lyles, Joy Goldsmith, Sandra Sanchez Reilly, 2008-05-15 This exceptional work explores the complexities of communication at one of the most critical stages of the life experience during advanced serious illness and at the end of life Challenging the predominantly biomedical model that informs much communication between seriously ill and or dying patients and their physicians caregivers and families Sandra L Ragan Elaine M Wittenberg Lyles Joy Goldsmith and Sandra Sanchez Reilly pose palliative care medical care designed to comfort rather than to cure patients as an antidote to the experience of most Americans at the most vulnerable juncture of their lives With an author team comprised of three health communication scholars and one physician certified in geriatrics and palliative medicine this volume integrates the medical literature on palliative care with that of health communication researchers who advocate a biopsychosocial approach to health care Applying communication theories and insights to illuminate problems and to explain their complexities the authors advocate a patient centered approach to care that recognizes and seeks to lessen patients suffering and the many types of pain they may experience physical psychological social and spiritual during life threatening illness
