London Area Road Report:

Traffic in Towns Colin Buchanan, 2015-05-08 Traffic in Towns also known as the Buchanan Report is regarded as one of the most influential planning documents of the twentieth century The report reflected mounting concern about the impact on Britain's towns and cities of rapid growth in the ownership and use of motor vehicles Its purpose was to evaluate policy options for reducing the threat of traffic congestion to urban circulation and quality of life Two main conclusions were drawn from the report firstly the need for large scale reconstruction to make Britain's cities fit for the motor age including split level megastructures and urban motorways and secondly the simultaneous need to preserve parts of the city especially residential areas as car free zones or environmental areas In Britain successive governments drew back from implementing the full recommendations of the Study Group despite initial cross party support The prohibitive cost of city centre redevelopment and motorway construction meant a comprehensive solution to the problem of urban traffic on Buchanan lines was never attempted However local authorities in a variety of British cities such as Glasgow Leicester and Leeds took up aspects of the Report Internationally too the Report had a major impact in countries such as Sweden Italy and Australia In the longer term the influence of the Report may be best judged by the incremental changes it set in train such as pedestrianization of city centres traffic calming and other measures linked to Buchanan's concept of environmental areas In focusing attention on the effects of mass motorization on the urban environment Traffic in Towns set the terms of debate for a generation prefiguring recent discussion about the car and urban sustainability

ECMT Round Tables Charging for the Use of Urban Roads Report of the Ninety-Seventh Round Table on Transport Economics Held in Paris on 4-5 November 1993 European Conference of Ministers of Transport, 1994-11-04 Round Table 97 highlights the many objections raised for charging for the use of urban roads particularly on grounds of equity

Hart, 2013-10-22 Strategic Planning in London The Rise and Fall of the Primary Road Network examines the relationship between order and change in the urban planning process Focusing on the planning of Greater London during 1943 to 1973 the book describes how strategic road planning and urban order has changed over this period The text analyzes why the large scale planning of high speed major roads in Greater London has failed Chapter 1 examines traditional master planning and disjointed incrementalism and outlines a conceptual model based on an iterative approach to urban planning Chapter 2 considers the way in which traffic congestion in Greater London was defined in the late 1950s and early 1960s Chapter 3 and 4 describes Abercrombie Buchanan approach to highway and urban and planning Chapter 5 points out the ways in which the concept of traffic congestion was broadened in the late 1960s and early 1970s Finally Chapter 6 focuses on the control mechanisms used in the planning period from 1943 to 1973 This book will be of interest to engineers who are seeking a comprehensive analysis of strategic planning
