Knowledge Creation in Education Seng Chee Tan, Hyo Jeong So, Jennifer Yeo, 2014-06-12 This book arises from research conducted through Singapore's National Institute of Education on such topics as integrating knowledge building pedagogies into Singaporean classrooms with both students and teachers across school levels from primary schools to high schools. Additionally international scholars contribute research on theories of knowledge creation methodological foundations of research on knowledge creation knowledge creation pedagogies in classrooms and knowledge creation work involving educators. The book is organized in two sections. Section A focuses on theoretical technological and methodological issues where sources of justification for claims are predominantly theories and extant literature although empirical evidence is used extensively in one chapter. Section B reports knowledge creation practices in schools with teachers students or both the key sources of justification for claims are predominantly empirical evidence and narratives of experience. The editor asserts that schools should focus on developing students capacity and disposition in knowledge creation work at the same time leaders and teachers alike should continue to develop their professional knowledge as a community. In the knowledge building vernacular the chapters are knowledge artifacts artifacts that not only document the findings of the editors and authors but that also mediate future advancement in this area of research work. The ultimate aim of the book is to inspire new ideas and to illuminate the path for researchers of similar interest in knowledge creation in education.

Computational Fluid Dynamics and Energy Modelling in Buildings Parham A. Mirzaei, 2023-01-24 COMPUTATIONAL FLUID DYNAMICS AND ENERGY MODELLING IN BUILDINGS A Comprehensive Overview of the Fundamentals of Heat and Mass Transport Simulation and Energy Performance in Buildings. In the first part of Computational Fluid Dynamics and Energy Modelling in Buildings Fundamentals and Applications the author explains the fundamentals of fluid mechanics thermodynamics and heat transfer with a specific focus on their application in buildings. This background knowledge sets the scene to further model heat and mass transport in buildings with explanations of commonly applied simplifications and assumptions. In the second part the author elaborates how the fundamentals explained in part 1 can be used to model energy flow in buildings which is the basis of all commercial and educational building energy simulation tools. An innovative illustrative nodal network concept is introduced to help readers comprehend the basics of conservation laws in buildings. The application of numerical techniques to form dynamic simulation tools are then introduced. In general understanding these techniques will help readers to identify and justify their choices when working with building energy simulation tools rather than using default settings. Detailed airflow information in buildings cannot be obtained in building energy simulation techniques. Therefore part three is focused on introducing computational fluid dynamics CFD as a detailed modelling technique for airflow in buildings. This part starts with an introduction to the fundamentals of the finite volume method used to solve the governing fluid equations and the related challenges and considerations are discussed. The last chapter of this part covers the solutions to some practical problems of airflow within and around buildings The key aspect of Computational Fluid Dynamics and Energy Modelling in Buildings Fundamentals and Applications is that it is tailored for audiences without extensive past experience of numerical methods Undergraduate or graduate students in architecture urban planning geography architectural engineering and other engineering fields along with building performance and simulation professionals can use this book to gain additional clarity on the topics of building energy simulation and computational fluid dynamics     Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis ,1986 process models are nowadays ubiquitous in many applications the challenges and alternatives related to their development validation and efficient use have become more apparent In addition the massive amounts of both offline and online data available today open the door for new applications and solutions However transforming data into useful models and information in the context of the process industry or of bio systems requires specific approaches and considerations such as new modelling methodologies incorporating the complex stochastic hybrid and distributed nature of many processes in particular The same can be said about the tools and software environments used to describe code and solve such models for their further exploitation Going well beyond mere simulation tools these advanced tools offer a software suite built around the models facilitating tasks such as experiment design parameter estimation model initialization validation analysis size developments in these topics in order to address the challenges brought by the use of models in their different facets and to reflect state of the art developments in methods tools and industrial applications     ERDA Energy Research Abstracts

Hydrolysis Energy Transduction by Protein Machinery Makoto Suzuki,2018-05-07 This book introduces recent progress in biological energetics from ATP hydrolysis to molecular machineries The role of water is now recognized to be essential in biological molecular energetics Although energetics is a rather distant field to many biologists any working models for protein machineries such as protein motors transporters and other enzymes must be consistent with their energetics

Therefore the book is intended to help scientists build systematic models of biomolecular functions based on three categories protein interactions including hydration dehydration processes and 3 functioning mechanisms of protein machineries based
