term climate justice began to gain traction in the late 1990s following a wide range of activities by social and environmental justice movements that emerged in response to the operations of the fossil fuel industry and later to what their members saw as the failed global climate governance model that became so transparent at COP15 in Copenhagen. The term continues to gain momentum in discussions around sustainable development, climate change mitigation and adaptation and has been slowly making its way into the world of international and national policy. However, the connections between these remain unestablished. Addressing the need for a comprehensive and integrated reference compendium, The Routledge Handbook of Climate Justice provides students, academics and professionals with a valuable insight into this fast growing field. Drawing together a multidisciplinary range of authors from the Global North and South, this Handbook addresses some of the most salient topics in current climate justice research, including just transition, urban climate justice and public engagement, in addition to the field's more traditional focus on gender, international governance and climate ethics. With an emphasis on facilitating learning based on cutting edge, specialised climate justice research and application, each chapter draws from the most recent sources, real world best practices and tutored reflections on the strategic dimensions of climate justice and its related disciplines. The Routledge Handbook of Climate Justice will be essential reading for students and scholars, as well as being a vital reference tool for those practically engaged in the field.

Handbook on the Geographies of Innovation Richard Shearmur, Christophe Carrincazeaux, David Doloreux, 2016-11-25 The geography of innovation is changing. Firstly, it is increasingly understood that innovative firms and organizations exhibit a wide variety of strategies, each differently attuned to diverse geographic contexts. Secondly, and concomitantly, the idea that cities, clusters and physical proximity are essential for innovation is evolving under the weight of new theorizing and empirical evidence. The aim of this handbook is to break with the many ideas and concepts that emerged during the course of the 1980s and 1990s and to fully take into account the new reality of the internet, mobile communication technologies, personal mobility and globalization. The handbook gathers a new generation of ideas and authors to contribute to the debate, providing an empirically grounded critical appraisal of the prevailing knowledge on the geography of innovation. The 28 original chapters, written by a diverse range of scholars with widely differing views, present fresh empirical evidence and new perspectives relating to how innovation plays out across space in an age where mobility has increased information is ubiquitous and globalisation has been realised Overall the dialogue between existing theory and new possibilities provides a unique and challenging appraisal of the connection between innovation agglomeration and space Offering cutting edge ideas in an accessible format this will be an ideal resource for students and scholars of economic geography and innovation studies The empirical evidence and analysis will also be of great value for policymakers and government officials Contributors include B T Asheim H W Aslesen A Bain P A Balland N Bradford A Bramwell C Brennan Horley S Breschi C Carraincazeaux C Chaminade R Comunian C De Fuentes D Doloreux D Eckert A Faggian M Ferru R D Fitjar K Flanagan C Gibson M Grillitsch M Grossetti G Harirchi F Huber A Isaksen S Jewel J Karlsen N Komninos J L Klein N Lee F Lissoni M Maisonobe J Mattes P McCann C T Noumedem R Ortega Argil s M Plechero A Rallet A Rodriguez Pose R Shearmur H L Smith B Spigel J Tallec E Tranos D G Tremblay F T dtling M Trippl E Uyarra C Yang C Wilkie D A Wolfe
