

How did British strategy change over time? In 1900, Britain was the world's most powerful nation, but by 1914, its military power had declined. This was due to a combination of factors, including the rise of Germany and the United States, and the increasing cost of maintaining a large empire. British strategy had to adapt to these changes, moving from a focus on naval power to a more balanced approach that included a strong army and a powerful navy.
