Transforming the Culture of Dying David Clark, 2013-05-02 Over a period of almost 10 years the work of the Project on Death in America PDIA played a formative role in the advancement of end of life care in the United States The project concerned itself with adults and children and with interests crossing boundaries between the clinical disciplines the social sciences arts and humanities PDIA engaged with the problems of resources in poor communities and marginalized groups and settings and it attempted to foster collaboration across a range of sectors and organizations Authored by medical sociologist David Clark whose research career has focused on mapping archiving and analyzing the history and development of hospice palliative care and related end of life issues this book examines the broad ambitious conception of PDIA which sought to transform the culture of dying in America and assesses PDIA's contribution to the development of the palliative care field and to wider debates about end of life care within American society. Chapters consider key issues and topics tackled by PDIA grantees which include explorations of the meanings of death in contemporary American culture, the varying experiences of care at the end of life in different settings among different social and ethnic groups, the innovations in service development and clinical practice that have occurred in the US in response to a growing awareness of and debate about end of life issues, the emerging evidence base for palliative and end of life care in the US, the maturation of a field of academic and clinical specialization, the policy and legal issues that have shaped development including the ethical debate about assisted suicide and the Oregon experience, the opportunities and barriers that have been encountered and the prospects for future development. A final chapter captures developments and milestones in the field since PDIA closed in 2003 and some of the challenges going forward.

Assessing the Quality of Cancer Care National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, National Cancer Policy Board, Committee on Assessing Improvements in Cancer Care in Georgia, 2005-06-18. Shortly after 1998, leading members of Georgia's government, medical community and public spirited citizenry began considering ways in which some of Georgia's almost $5 billion 25 year settlement from the tobacco industry's Master Settlement Agreement with the 50 states could be used to benefit Georgia residents. Given tobacco's role in causing cancer, they decided to create an entity and program with the mission of making Georgia a national leader in cancer prevention, treatment and research. This new entity called the Georgia Cancer Coalition Inc (GCC) and the state of Georgia subsequently began implementing a far reaching state cancer initiative that includes five strategic goals: 1 preventing cancer and detecting existing cancers earlier, 2 improving access to quality care for all state residents with cancer, 3 saving more lives in the future, 4 training future cancer researchers and caregivers and 5 turning the eradication of cancer into economic growth for Georgia. Assessing the Quality of Cancer Care identifies a set of measures that could be used to gauge Georgia's progress in improving the quality of its cancer services and in reducing cancer related morbidity and mortality.
